SPO President, Kristen Moreno, and Vice President, Evelyn Barajas, recently had the incredible opportunity to meet with Halleh Nia, M.A., the Case Management and Outreach Marketing Coordinator and PR Director for OMID Multicultural Institute for Development in Irvine.

OMID is an organization committed to enhancing the well-being of underrepresented communities (particularly those who have experienced mental illness or traumatic events due to familial conflict and relational violence) through therapeutic practices and life changes. They provide linguistically and culturally sensitive care and social support services at an accessible cost. Moreover, they aim to strengthen the diverse community in Orange County.

As aspiring gerontologists, we prioritize providing assistance to individuals from diverse backgrounds. The existence of non-profit organizations like OMID serves to reinforce our mission as gerontological practitioners by expanding the available resources and opportunities for various communities.

Halleh Nia is an excellent representation of OMID. Halleh, an Iranian immigrant who has lived in Iran, Germany and now resides in the U.S., proudly holds a significant title at OMID, where she leverages her personal experience to support underrepresented communities within Orange County. Additionally, Halleh imparts her accrued expertise as a part-time professor across multiple community colleges like Fullerton Community College. Despite traveling between campuses during semesters, Halleh devotes any remaining time to furthering OMID's mission.
