American Association of Service Coordinators

Dr. Melanie Horn-Mallers, who is on sabbatical this semester and will be returning in the fall, is assisting this incredible nonprofit to find speakers for its upcoming conference. It is suitable for Human Services and Aging Studies.

The American Association of Service Coordinators (AASC) provides a variety of educational programs and events to assist you in meeting your training requirements and dealing with questions and challenges that arise on the job. The AASC primarily serves the elderly, and would like to provide different aging topics to our attendees. They are looking for speakers, including students, to present a topic of your research in this area.

The 2022 National Service Coordinator Conference will be held August 14 – 17 at the Marriott Anaheim in Anaheim, CA.
