I. Department Mission, Goals and Environment

A. Briefly describe the mission and goals of the unit and identify any changes since the last program review. Review the goals in relation to the university mission, goals and strategies.

In Academic Year (AY) 2010-11, the Department of Health Science (HESC) revised its mission and goals. The mission of the department is to: "... prepare individuals and communities with the knowledge and skills to advance health and wellness and to instill a commitment to meet the public health challenges of the 21st century. We embrace the ideals of collaboration, social justice, and diversity of students, faculty, and intellectual perspectives."

In support of this mission, the four goals of the department are to:

1. Provide a broad-based undergraduate program that prepares graduates for entry-level public health positions and/or graduate education.
2. Prepare masters-level professionals to assume leadership positions within their selected public health setting.
3. Engage the surrounding community and special populations of interest to support health-enhancing activities.
4. Conduct innovative research that advances the practice of public health.

The new mission highlights the teaching and training activities of the department to prepare students to promote health as well as the importance of developing a personal commitment to advancing public health. In addition, our mission statement clearly outlines the values of the department compared to the department's previous mission statement.

The department's mission is aligned with the University's emphasis on learning as preeminent. In particular, we have focused on implementing the following strategies in support of each of the eight University goals (indicated A-G):

1. To ensure the preeminence of learning: A, B, C, D, E.
2. To provide high quality programs that meet the evolving needs of our students, community and region: A, B, D, E, G.
3. To enhance scholarly and creative activity: A, C, D.
4. To make collaboration integral to our activities: A.
5. To create an environment where all students have the opportunity to succeed: B, C.
6. To increase external support for university programs and priorities: C.
7. To expand connections and partnerships with our region: A, C, D.
8. To strengthen institutional effectiveness, collegial governance and our sense of community: A, C, D, G.

B. Briefly describe changes and trends in the discipline and the response of the unit to such changes. Identify if there have been external factors that impact the program.

Within the field of public health, there has been increasing attention paid to the growth of undergraduate public health/health science programs nationwide. This effort, spearheaded by the Association of Schools and Programs of Public Health (ASPPH), has documented the rise in undergraduate public health programs and the variability of such programs with respect to the names of degree granting units, accreditation, institution and program size, and student demographics. In response, ASPPH has developed recommendations for critical component elements of undergraduate majors in public health. The substantive curricular recommendations include: (a) an overview of public health, (b) role and importance of data, (c) identifying and addressing public health challenges, (d) human health, (e) determinants of health, (f) project implementation, (g) overview of the health system, (h) health policy, law, ethics, and economics, (g) health communication.

In response to these changes within the discipline, in 2014-15 the department underwent an extensive reevaluation of its undergraduate curriculum and approved a revised undergraduate curriculum which better reflects the ASPPH recommendations, providing a broader public health education. The department also agreed on a new curricular structure (i.e., moving from tracks to concentrations) and is currently in the process of creating new courses to support the new structure.

C. Identify the unit's priorities for the future.

The department has four main priorities for the future based on current challenges resulting in rapid student growth over the evaluation period.

1. Update curriculum. Changes in the discipline, and broader, of the focus of the department since the beginning of the evaluation period prompted the department to review its undergraduate curriculum in 2014. In addition to the previously described disciplinary changes, the scope of activity has broadened from a focus on health promotion to public health. This change in scope more significantly incorporates core elements of environmental and occupational health, epidemiology and biostatistics, and health administration. Thus, three changes have been proposed to the current curriculum as future department priorities: (a) reorganization of core classes for the Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in Health Science to reflect a more broad-based public health curriculum, (b) formalization of departmental advising tracks (health promotion and disease prevention, environmental and occupational health and safety, and global health) into university-recognized concentrations, and (c) development of two additional substantive areas as concentrations (public health nutrition and health systems).
2. Identify new space to meet departmental needs. The rapid increase in students choosing to pursue a B.S. in Health Science (see Section II.C. below) has resulted in lack of space for teaching and to accommodate needed faculty hires. The constraints on space due to enrollment growth are compounded by a similar enrollment growth in the Department of Kinesiology with whom the Department of Health Science shares the Kinesiology and Health Science Building.

As a result, a second priority for the department is to identify space in Fullerton and Irvine to accommodate current growth. The department has structured its course offerings to provide the entire core curriculum and health promotion and disease prevention track courses at the Irvine campus. Specifically, the department will seek to identify space for: (a) new faculty hires such that the percent full-time equivalent faculty (FTEF) allocation reaches the university average. [The department's current percent FTEF allocation is 39%, 13% below the university average as of 2012-13.]; (b) student instruction (37.3% of in-person classes were held outside of the KHS building); and (c) research to allow faculty to remain current in the field, engage students in high-impact research practices, and be competitive for external grants.

3. Increase the number of high impact practices experienced by students. To enhance student learning, the department would like to increase the number and types of high impact practices in its curricular and co-curricular activities. This includes continuing to increase the number and type of experiential learning opportunities in public health practice in HESC 101 (Personal Health), 399 (Peer Mentoring), 410 (Community Health), 494 (Practicum in Health Science), and 495 (Internship in Health Science); exposing student to and providing opportunity for engagement with faculty research; and providing funding and opportunity for student conference attendance and presentation.
4. Assist with increasing faculty administrative workloads. With increasing student enrollment and to meet the goals of the University Strategic Plan, the service burden on full-time faculty has increased significantly such as to conduct student and program assessment, incorporate and track student high impact practices, engage part-time faculty and alumni, coach peer mentors and supervise student tutors, conduct general education (GE) recertification, and provide student career and graduate school advising. In order to better address several ongoing administrative needs relating to student success, the department has proposed for AY 2016-17 to hire a full time lecturer to lead departmental efforts in assessment of student learning, implementation of pedagogical innovation, supervise mentors and tutors, and increasing student engagement in public health practice opportunities. The department will also continue to conduct ongoing assessment via bimonthly staff meetings of staff resources and effective deployment to support student event planning, community and alumni outreach, instructional student assistant hiring and timesheet approvals, etc.

D. If there are programs offered in a Special Session self-support mode, describe how these programs are included in the mission, goals and priorities of the department/program (e.g. new student groups regionally, nationally, internationally, new delivery modes, etc).

No department undergraduate programs are offered in Special Sessions.

II. Department Description and Analysis

A. Identify substantial curricular changes in existing programs, new programs (degrees, majors, minors) developed since the last program review.

A. A unique feature of the department is its use of advising tracks internal to the department instead of University options/concentrations/emphasis designations. The department added a Global Health advising track since the last review, resulting in a total of three current advising tracks: 1) Health Promotion/Disease Prevention; 2) Global Health; and 3) Environmental and Occupational Health and Safety.

B. Describe the structure of the degree program (e.g. identify required courses, how many units of electives) and identify the logic underlying the organization of the requirements.

The current structure of the B.S. in Health Science requires 16 units of prerequisites, 25 units for major requirements, 12 units for one of three advising track and 9 units of electives. Students must also complete 3 units of upper division English proficiency requirement. The courses within each category are as follows:

Prerequisites (16 units)

- 3 units of Introductory Biology
- 3 units of Introductory Chemistry
- 1 unit Science Lab
- 3 units of Introductory Social Science
- 3 units of Introductory Oral Communication
- 3 units of Anatomy & Physiology

Major Requirements (25 units)

- HESC 101: Personal Health (3)
- HESC 220: Concepts in Health Science (3)
- HESC 349: Measurement & Statistics in Kinesiology & Health (3)
- HESC 400: Program Design (3)
- HESC 401: Epidemiology (3)
- HESC 440: Health Behavior (3)
- HESC 475: Health Science Research & Evaluation (3)
- HESC 494: Practicum in Health Science (1)
- HESC 495: Internship in Health Science (3)

Advising Track Requirements (12 units)

Track 1: Health Promotion and Disease Prevention

- HESC 410: Community Health Education
- HESC 450: Applied Health Promotion in Aging Populations
- HESC 455: Designing Health Education Curricula
- HESC 460: Worksite Health Promotion

Track 2: Global Health

- HESC 411: Promoting Health in Multicultural Populations
- HESC 465: Introduction to International Health
- HESC 480: Transdisciplinary Perspectives on HIV/AIDS
- HESC 481: Health in a Global Society

Track 3: Environmental and Occupational Health and Safety

- HESC 415: Environmental Health
- HESC 416: Global Issues in Environmental Health
- HESC 461: Occupational Health and Safety
- HESC 462: Environmental Toxicology and Health

As a multidisciplinary field, Health Science requires students to have a background in biological, physical and social sciences that are reflected in the major prerequisites. Major requirements reflect grounding in quantitative literacy in health science and community health principles. The advising tracks allow students to select specialized study in one core area within public health.

C. Using data provided by the office of Analytic Studies/Institutional Research discuss student demand for the unit’s offerings; discuss topics such as over enrollment, under enrollment, (applications, admissions and enrollments) retention, (native and transfer) graduation rates for majors, and time to degree. (See instructions, Appendix I)

The B.S. program in Health Science has grown substantially since the last review as shown in Table 1 regarding changes in enrollment changes from AY2008-09 to AY2014-15. Trends across enrollment categories show significant growth in the department during the review period.

Table 1: Enrollment Growth, Department of Health Science, 2008 & 2015

	2008-09	2014-15
Program Full Time Equivalent Students (FTES)	509.7	888.9
Annualized headcount	591.0	1476.0
Academic year FTES	501.3	1255.0
First Time Freshmen	397	742
FTF applications
FTFs admitted	221	397
FTFs enrolled	60	173
Transfer Students	195	761
Transfer applications
Transfers admitted	125	369
Transfers enrolled	82	173
BS degrees conferred	128	*362

*In 2013-14

Graduation rates have also increased since the last review. Data for first time full-time freshmen entering the department in 2002 have low numbers (n=20), but the 2002 cohort had a six year graduation rate of 40%, with 10% within the major and 30% in a different major. For the 2008 cohort (n=59), the six year graduation rate was 55.9%, with 42.4% completing their degree within the program and 13.6% in another major.

Among new upper division transfer students, the four year graduation rate for the 2004 cohort entering the department (n=21) was 61.9%, with 47.6% finishing their degree in the program and 14.3% in another major. For the 2010 cohort (n=71), 80.29% of new upper division transfer students earned their degree in four years or less. Seventy-six percent (76%) of the 2010 cohort earned a B.S. in Health Science and 4.2% in another major.

D. Discuss the unit’s enrollment trends since the last program review, based on enrollment targets (FTES), faculty allocation, and student faculty ratios. For graduate programs, comment on whether there is sufficient enrollment to constitute a community of scholars to conduct the program. (See instructions, Appendix II)

In AY 2010-11, actual FTES was 559.0, including 140.3 lower division and 418.7 upper division students. This was near the target FTES of 599 set by the College of Health and Human Development (CHHD). Actual FTES has increased annually to 888.9 in 2014-15, 210.2 lower division and 678.6 upper division. This was far greater than the target FTES of 659.

FTEF hires and allocation has not increased as rapidly as student growth. In 2009-14, the department had only 11 tenured/tenure-track faculty when our FTEF allocation from the university was 26.0, while in 2014-15 the department had only 15 tenure and tenure-track faculty when our FTEF allocation was 28.7.

E. Describe any plans for curricular changes in the short (three-year) and long (seven-year) term, such as expansions, contractions or discontinuances. Relate these plans to the priorities described above in section I. C.

As mentioned in I.B. above, the ASPPH has developed recommendations for undergraduate programs in public health. The department has made plans to significantly update the program curriculum to reflect the ASPPH's recommendations by Fall 2018. Prerequisites for the B.S. in Health Science will be simplified to include HESC 101 (Personal Health) and a new Introduction to Public Health course (in development). The department feels University general education requirements will provide students entering the program appropriate exposure to biological, physical, and social science compared to existing prerequisites.

The major requirements will be more extensive and reflect a broader public health education. One course (HESC 440, Determinants of Health Behavior) will be moved from a major requirement to a requirement for the Health Promotion/Disease Prevention concentration. New to the core requirements will be two existing class (HESC 411: Health in Multicultural Population and HESC 415: Environmental Health) and three classes to be developed (one 1-unit course on applying public health data to community interventions, one 1-unit course introducing students to program concentrations, and an introductory 3-unit course on the U.S. health care system).

Existing advising tracks will be formalized into concentrations requiring 9 units of coursework: 1) Health Promotion/Disease Prevention; 2) Global Health; 3) Environmental and Occupational Health and Safety. The departmental is in the process of obtaining final course approvals for a fourth concentration in Public Health Nutrition. The department is also currently in the planning stages of developing the coursework for the fifth concentration in Health Systems.

F. Include information on any Special Sessions self-support programs offered by the department/program.

No programs are offered in Special Sessions.

III. Documentation of Student Academic Achievement and Assessment of Student Learning Outcomes

A. Describe the department/program assessment plan (e.g. general approach, time table, etc.) and structure (e.g. committee, coordinator, etc.), and if applicable, how the plan and/or structure have changed since the last PPR.

Since the last PPR, the department has adopted a new set of four goals and eight student learning outcomes. To assess the student learning outcomes, the department has adopted a four-year assessment model as the core of its assessment of the B.S. in Health Science. Two student learning outcomes are assessed per year using direct assessment instruments administered in the program's experiential capstone HESC 495, which is a required internship class.

In addition to the core assessment plan, the department continues to use indirect assessment indicators listed in the last PPR, including exit surveys, internship evaluations, and community advisory board feedback.

B. For each degree program, provide the student learning outcomes (SLOs); describe the methods, direct or indirect, used to measure student learning; and summarize the assessment results of the SLOs.

Student Learning Objectives

The goals and student learning outcomes for the B.S. in Health Science are to develop:

Goal 1. An understanding of theories and research based health interventions

- Outcome 1.1. Describe major theories associated with health science and public health.
- Outcome 1.2. Describe the steps involved in planning, implementing and evaluating research based health interventions.

Goal 2. Information literacy and research skills

- Outcome 2.1. Access and identify evidence based information sources relevant to specific health issues.
- Outcome 2.2. Analyze statistical, epidemiological and qualitative data to promote population health.

Goal 3. Professional, ethical and reflective practice with diverse populations

- Outcome 3.1. Apply theories, research findings and best practices to promote health with diverse communities.
- Outcome 3.2. Analyze ethical issues that arise in the field of health science and public health.

Goal 4. Communication skills

- Outcome 4.1. Make effective oral presentations taking into account diverse stakeholders.
- Outcome 4.2. Write effectively taking purpose and audience into account.

Methods to measure student learning (direct)

Direct assessment instruments are used to assess each of the student learning objectives listed above. In the spring semester prior to the academic year student learning objectives are to be assessed, a small group of tenured/tenure track faculty who teach courses aimed to develop and master the learning objectives develop an assessment instrument and rubric. Both the assessment instrument and rubric are presented to the faculty for input and approved by the entire faculty. The following year, the assessment instrument is administered to students in HESC 495 as a credit/no credit assignment during both Fall and Spring terms. Faculty score a 20% randomly selected subset of student assignment for scoring.

The first year of the assessment plan was implemented in AY 2013-14 to assess Goal 2 student learning outcomes. A single assessment instrument with four interrelated questions was developed to assess the two student learning objectives listed above. A rubric to assess student learning was developed on a four-point scale, 1-Poor, 2-Marginal, 3-Good, 4-Excellent. The results of the assessment show that for the student learning outcome, “Access and identify evidence based information sources relevant to specific health issues,” the average score was a 2.89 out of 4, with 64.8% scoring 3 or higher. For the student learning outcome, “Analyze statistical, epidemiological and qualitative data to promote population health,” the average score was 2.81 out of 4, with 67.5% scoring 3 or higher.

A qualitative analysis of student work showed that students had the greatest difficulty finding and understanding qualitative research and were more adept at finding and using epidemiologic data than peer reviewed studies. With respect to application of data to health interventions, students tended to be general in their applications and did not utilize a nuanced analysis of data to develop specific health interventions.

In AY 2014-15 Goal 1 student learning outcomes were assessed. Student assessment assignments are currently being prepared for scoring.

Methods to measure student learning (indirect)

The primary indirect method to measure student learning is an exit survey administered to students enrolled in a HESC 495, an internship course taken in the final term in the major. In AY 2013-14, among 200 students who completed the exit survey, self-rated ability on the learning outcomes for that year are described in the table below:

Goal 2 Student learning outcomes	Very strong N (%)	Strong N (%)
Ability to access and identify evidence-based information sources relevant to specific health issues.	79 (39.5%)	99 (49.5%)
Ability to analyze statistical, epidemiological, and quantitative data to promote population health.	59 (29.5%)	88 (44.0%)

In AY 2014-15 among 301 students who completed the exit survey, self-rated ability on the learning outcomes for that year are described in the table below:

Goal 1 Student learning outcomes	Very strong N (%)	Strong N (%)
Describe major theories associated with health science and public health.	71 (23.5%)	132 (43.9%)

Describe the steps involved in planning, implementing and evaluating research based health interventions.	98 (32.6%)	147 (48.8%)
---	------------	-------------

C. Describe whether and how assessment results have been used to improve teaching and learning practices, and/or overall departmental effectiveness. Please cite specific examples.

Upon presentation of assessment results, the following areas for improvement were discussed and recommended by faculty who teach courses which introduce, develop, and master the learning outcomes:

- Pedagogy: modifying assignments to more clearly target learning objectives; providing better feedback to students on areas for improvement; more active learning strategies.
- Curriculum: changing content in courses to be more applied, change in specific learning goals for courses where objectives are introduced, developed, and mastered.
- Student support: tutoring, adding on-line self-study materials, encouraging use of the writing center.
- Faculty support: professional training, exchange of best practices and pedagogical innovation.

The following planned activities will “close the loop” on each specified objective.

Objective 2.1 - "Identify and access data"

Pedagogy

1. HESC 400

- a) Add an in-class activity that teaches students to extract data from a research article. During this activity, the instructor would choose the article, and highlight specific data types that may be extracted. This additional activity would allow more specific practice for students under supervision of the faculty. The additional practice can then be assessed during the needs assessment assignment already given in all sections of HESC 400.

2. HESC 475

- a) In the form of one or more questions on a quiz, midterm exam, final exam, in-class assignment, or homework assignment, ask students to identify qualitative research.
 - i. e.g., Give students four study abstracts (without the word “qualitative” in any of them; you can always delete that word if necessary), all of which are quantitative except one, the correct answer.
 - ii. e.g., Any set of four descriptions of research (methods or results; no use of the word “qualitative”), three of which are quantitative and one of which is qualitative, the correct answer.

- b) Require a minimum number of citations in the final research report (presentation slides, paper, poster – whatever you assign) to be of qualitative studies.
 - i. e.g., If you require a minimum of eight citations, at least three of them must be qualitative studies.
- c) Require a minimum number of citations to be from publicly available epidemiologic/surveillance data (e.g., from CDC, local and state department of health) and a minimum number from peer reviewed research studies.

Faculty Support

- 1. No additional faculty support was recommended

Student Support

- 1. The HESC tutoring program is aimed at helping students struggling in HESC 349, HESC 401 and HESC 475. Faculty will encourage students to seek help from tutors. Students taking advantage of tutors will be given assessment surveys to measure the adequacy and outcomes of tutor help.

Curriculum

- 1. No specific curriculum changes were recognized.

Objective 2.2 - "Analyze data"

Pedagogy

- 1. HESC 400
 - a) Add an in-class activity that teaches students to extract data from a research article. During this activity, the instructor would choose the article, and highlight specific data types that may be extracted. This additional activity would allow more specific practice for students under supervision of the faculty. The additional practice can then be assessed during the needs assessment assignment already given in all sections of HESC 400.
- 2. HESC 475
 - a) In the Discussion section of the final research report, require an Implications subsection. In the Implications, require students to recommend programmatic activities/interventions in their study population, in addition to whatever other implication statements each instructor requires. This will be quite brief in the HESC 475 final report. We expect that students will gain deeper knowledge of designing and proposing programs based on citable evidence in HESC 400.
- 3. Assessment Assignment
 - a) A revision of the assessment assignment question 3 to read, "two published studies that present qualitative data."

Faculty Support

1. No additional faculty support was recommended.

Student Support

1. The HESC tutoring program is aimed at helping students struggling in HESC 349, HESC 401 and HESC 475. Faculty will encourage students to seek help from tutors. Students taking advantage of tutors will be given assessment surveys to measure the adequacy and outcomes of tutor help.

Curriculum

1. Proposed a 1 unit "Lab" course to be taken concurrently with HESC 349. Primary purpose of course would be to integrate analysis methods with specific health science case studies. This proposal will correspond with overall curriculum realignment currently being undertaken in the HESC department.

D. Describe other quality indicators identified by the department/program as evidence of effectiveness/success other than student learning outcomes (e.g. graduation rate, number of students attending graduate or professional school, job placement rates, etc.).

The department has used a number of other indicators on a student exit survey to assess teaching effectiveness and student success. Measures on the survey include: quality of instruction, currency of course content, intellectual rigor of courses, class sizes, academic and career advising, employment in the health field, and intention for additional study. Since the adoption of the University Strategic Plan, the department has also begun tracking 4-year and 6-year graduation rates, with improvements seen for AY 2013-14 to AY 2014-15.

In the future, the department plans to conduct more detailed analysis of graduation rates data, examine site supervisor evaluations of students completing the department internship course. The department will also consider the possibility of conducting regular alumni surveys, an action hindered by challenges associated with obtaining perpetual student contact information.

E. Many department/programs are offering courses and programs via technology (e.g. on-line, etc.) or at off campus sites and in compressed schedules. How is student learning assessed in these formats/modalities?

Currently there is no distinction on the overall learning that is accomplished in-class versus in online formats. The department assessment plan assumes all students should meet the same learning outcomes and progress at the same rate through the health science curriculum. To assess whether students who took online courses versus in-class courses are performing differently, the assessment plan would need to be modified to incorporate the class history of specific students. This would be difficult to do and could no longer guarantee anonymity to instructors.

IV. Faculty

A. Describe changes since the last program review in the full-time equivalent faculty (FTEF) allocated to the department or program. Include information on tenured and tenure tract faculty lines (e.g. new hires, retirements, FERP's, resignations, and how these changes may have affected the program/department's academic offerings. Describe tenure density in the program/department and the distribution among academic rank (assistant, associate, professor) (See instructions, Appendix IV) (Attach faculty vitae see Appendix VII).

Since the last program review, FTEF allocated to the department has increased from 23.2 in 2008/09 (43% of FTEF allocation) to 35.5 in 2012/13 (39% of FTEF allocation), the last year for which data are available. The number of tenured faculty has increased from 4 in 2008/09 to 8 in 2014/15, while the number of tenure track faculty has stayed the same (n=6) during that same period. Since the last review period, seven new faculty have been hired, one faculty is in the Faculty Early Retirement Program, no faculty resigned, and two tenured faculty have left the department into administrative positions with retreat rights.

Eight of 14 faculty are tenured. Among tenure and tenure track faculty in 2014/15, three are Full Professors, six are Associate Professors, and five are Assistant Professors. There are four full timer lecturers (two of whom are full-time academic advisors).

B. Describe priorities for additional faculty hires. Explain how these priorities and future hiring plans relate to relevant changes in the discipline, the career objectives of students, the planning of the university, and regional, national or global developments.

The department has prioritized two faculty hires. The first is for a tenure track faculty in environmental and occupational health and safety. This hire will bolster the environmental and occupational health and safety concentration at the undergraduate level, ensure we maintain the necessary faculty in this area to maintain accreditation of the Master of Public Health program offered by the department, and to make up for a current faculty member in this area who will be leaving the university at the end of the 2015-16 academic year.

A second hire for a full-time, non-tenure track faculty member with expertise is in public health education and practice. The purpose of this addition would be to oversee internships and service learning, coordinate assessment, and encourage pedagogical innovation in support of the department's priorities discussed in Section I.C.

While additional hires are needed to meet student growth, space limitations preclude any additional hires since office space for more than two additional hires in the future is not available in the Kinesiology and Health Science building. In order to meet the growth of the department, office space for new faculty is urgently needed.

C. Describe the role of full-time or part time faculty and student assistants in the program/department's curriculum and academic offerings. Indicate the number and percentage of courses taught by part-time faculty and student teaching assistants. Identify any parts of the curriculum that are the responsibility of part-time faculty or teaching assistants.

Full-time faculty have responsibility for structuring curriculum, proposing and approving new classes, and ensuring that sections of the same course provide a similar learning experience. The number of tenured and tenure-track faculty in the department has increased from 11 to 15 over the review period. This rise in faculty has not kept pace with growth in student enrollment, thus the number of part-time faculty has nearly doubled in the same period from 26 in 2009-10 to 46 in 2014-15. Part-time faculty and student assistants play a vital role in teaching for the department. In AY 2009-10, part-time faculty and student assistants taught an average of 59.6% of the 146 undergraduate sections, and in AY 2014-15 it was 69.6% of the 273 sections. Courses taught by part-time faculty and student assistants are generally at the lower-division levels, including HESC 101, 342, 349 and 350 that are also GE courses. At the upper-division level, full-time and tenured/tenure-track faculty generally teach courses number 415 and higher, with all of the capstone (HESC 475) and nearly all of the final internship (HESC 495) courses taught by full-time and tenured/tenure-track faculty. Aside from teaching a majority of our courses, part-time faculty and teaching assistants have no further responsibilities for curriculum. With the number of courses offered by the department increasing from Fall 2009 to Spring 2010, part-time faculty are responsible for teaching a large number and proportion of students in the B.S. program. The role of teaching assistants has remained the same; between 2.9% and 4.0% of classes are taught by teaching assistants over the review period.

D. Include information on instructor participation in Special Sessions self-support programs offered by the department/program.

No programs are offered in Special Sessions.

V. Student Support and Advising

A. Briefly describe how the department advises its majors, minors, and graduate students.

A. The department has two dedicated undergraduate academic advisors. Advising of first time freshmen begins at New Student Orientation, when incoming freshmen who declare Health Science as their major receive an overview of the major, group advising and assistance with selecting classes for registration. Prior to enrolling in HESC 220, that is the advising class for the major which is typically taken in the third year, there is no mandatory student advising although freshmen and sophomores can seek voluntary advising.

For new transfer students, an advising “boot camp” is held in-person after Transfer Student Orientation; the boot camp is available to transfer students who attend in-person and online orientation. At the boot camp, students receive advising and are enrolled into HESC 220. The bulk of undergraduate advising occurs in HESC 220 where the structure of the B.S. program – including major requirements, advising tracks, electives, and administrative graduation procedures – is covered in detail. Students are required to complete an academic plan and also receive professional advising. Subsequently, the academic advisors track student progress and provide ongoing support for coursework selection to promote retention and timely graduation.

Advisors also hold mandatory group grad check meetings which tie together grad check, advising, and mandatory meetings with the College graduation specialist. After this process, advisors certify students to candidate status. Additional professional or subject specific advising is conducted by faculty whose students are recommended to seek out and develop relationships.

In AY 2015-16, the new KHS Student Success Center was opened to house the department's academic advisors and student success activities including tutoring, peer mentoring, career advising and writing assistance services.

B. Describe opportunities for students to participate in departmental honors programs, undergraduate or graduate research, collaborative research with faculty, service learning, internships, etc. How are these opportunities supported? List the faculty and students participating in each type of activity and indicate plans for the future.

The department maintains many opportunities to promote student engagement in co-curricular and experiential learning.

Departmental Honors. Eta Sigma Gamma (ESG) Delta Rho Chapter is the health science honorary society at California State University, Fullerton, and is the local chapter of the national ESG health education honorary. The mission of ESG is promotion of the discipline by elevating the standards, ideals, competence, and ethics of professionally prepared men and women in Health Education. In order to maintain membership, students must have a minimum 3.0 GPA and volunteer 10 hours per year by participating in monthly meetings and activities that help achieve some of ESG's goals of supporting health education advocacy initiatives, providing health education services, and assisting in scientific research. In AY 2014-15, there were approximately 90 active members. Some recent activities include assisting in the Central County Health Expo, an event that helped to serve Orange County's most medically vulnerable population by providing medically related services; participating in the Orange County Women's Health Policy Summit, an event that addressed the gaps and health disparities affecting women throughout Orange County; donating blood at an on-campus blood drive; donating new bundles of socks to give to Homeless Health Care Los Angeles to distribute to homeless individuals living in the Skid Row area of downtown Los Angeles and along the Los Angeles River; and attending the Health Science Faculty Research Seminars held each academic year.

Undergraduate research. All students in the B.S. in Health Science program received training in research methods through HESC 475: Health Science Planning, Research and Evaluation. In this required core course, students design and conduct their own research study, developing important research skills and experience. In addition, Health Science faculty are very involved in research, affording undergraduate students numerous opportunities to participate in research. Through exposure in primarily 300- and 400- level courses taught by full-time faculty, students are introduced to ongoing faculty research activities and invited to join. Students may also obtain research exposure through working with faculty in one of four department centers/institutes: Center for Cancer Disparities Research, Center for Chronic Pain and Fibromyalgia, Center for Healthy Lifestyles and Obesity Prevention, and the Health Promotion Research Institute. In 2012-13 a total of 202 students were involved in faculty and/or center research; in 2013-14, the total was 146.

Service learning and internships. The B.S. in Health Science program also requires all of its students to participate in a 40-hour practicum (HESC 494, service learning) in their sophomore or junior year and then a 120-hour internship experience (HESC 495) in their senior year. Annually, approximately 600 health science students complete a practicum and 340 students complete an internship. To facilitate placement in the field, students utilize a website maintained by the campus office of Center for Internships and Community Engagement (CICE) which contains a database of hundreds of approved sites/organizations which include clinical, community, government and private settings. In 2013, the department’s undergraduate internship coordinator were recognized as “Outstanding Internship Coordinators” by CICE. Recently, the department was again recognized by CICE with the “Outstanding Partnership Award” to recognize our extensive collaboration with St. Jude’s LEAP (Lunchtime Education & Activity Program) project, which is working to reduce childhood obesity in local communities. For the past 2 years, approximately 60-70 CSUF, Health Science students have successfully completed their internship with the LEAP project.

VI. Resources and Facilities

A. Itemize the state support and non-state resources received by the program/department during the last five years. (See instructions, Appendix V.)

The operating portion (i.e., not including salary and benefits) of the department budget has grown over the past six years to accommodate the increasing needs of students, faculty and staff.

Department of Health Science Operating Budget: FY 2009/2010 – FY 2014/2015
Fiscal Year (FY)	Revised Budget OE&E	Travel	Accreditation	UEE/Open University	Misc Course Fees	Additional One-Time	Total
2009-2010	48,014	6,000	3,547	20,793	14,644	-	92,998
2010-2011	136,793	13,691	3,047	33,242	10,485	-	197,258
2011-2012	137,112	15,000	3,908	20,441	9,652	-	186,113
2012-2013	120,438	10,400	8,164	47,319	10,112	-	196,433
2013-2014	48,115	14,000	3,675	37,795	9,556	-	113,141
2014-2015	118,087	14,000	3,500	42,574	10,300	*2,000	190,461

*$2,000 was given to the HESC Department in Spring 2015 for student tutors

Note:

- 1) CourseMatch funds are not included as an “Additional One-Time” as they are a partial reimbursement of faculty who taught the courses.
- 2) Salaries/benefits are not included as they were subtracted from the revised budget.

B. Identify any special facilities/equipment used by the program/department such as laboratories, computers, large classrooms, or performance spaces. Identify changes over last five years and prioritize needs for the future.

The Department of Health Science is housed in the 70,000 sq.ft. Kinesiology and Health Science (KHS) building that includes the Division of KHS administrative office, 42 faculty offices, one copier room, several medium classrooms (KHS 160, 164, 170, and 174), one large lecture hall (KHS 199), one seminar classroom (KHS 119), meetings rooms (KHS 122 and 221), an Employee Wellness Center, and research/teaching labs.

1. College IT Support. The department is supported by six college technology support staff who provide the following services: web hosting, website and web application development, web content management, 508 accessibility, IT consultation (for hardware/software evaluation and purchasing, multimedia implementation, design and development of web applications and websites, and hardware/software training), and part-time instructor computer needs.
2. Department Computing Resources. The division houses one computer lab (in KHS 272) used primarily for Kinesiology and Health Science classes, and includes 36 Dell Optiplex 7010 computers (with SPSS, Microsoft Office 2013, Adobe Acrobat Reader, ESHA 10.6 Nutrition Program, and Altas.ti), one faculty workstation with total control of every student computer, 1 LCD projector, overhead projector, and 2 HP 4350 LaserJet printers. In addition, faculty and instructional staff can check out one of three mobile cards equipped with a Dell Latitude D600 and Epson 821 Projector for use in any classroom or meeting room.
3. Department Research Laboratory Resources. The Division of Kinesiology and Health Science houses a wide variety of biobehavioral resources available to and used by department faculty. These labs include the following:
 - Kathryn T. McCarty MPH Student Lounge (KHS-002): This space is for the use of the department's current MPH students, and includes three computers, printers, refrigerator, conference table and white board for collaborative project development and studying.
 - Fitness Assessment Laboratory (KHS-004): This lab is used to assess fitness (aerobic fitness, body composition, blood pressure, strength, flexibility and lung function) in study participants, CSUF students, athletes and employees. Equipment: Hydrostatic weighing tank, treadmill, cycle ergometers, Keiser bench press and leg press, lung function equipment, skinfold calipers, grip strength dynamometers, and blood pressure equipment.
 - Exercise Physiology Lab (KHS-014): It is used primarily for neuromuscular testing, submaximal and maximal aerobic fitness testing, and anaerobic fitness testing (i.e., Wingate Testing). It also has the capability for blood analyses (blood lactate, cholesterol, glucose, and other blood chemistry). Equipment includes isokinetic and isometric strength equipment (Cybex II+ and HUMAC NORM), cycle ergometers, a treadmill, metabolic measurement system (ParvoMedics), and blood chemistry instruments.
 - Phlebotomy and biological sample/blood processing laboratory (KHS 016): Designed to collect blood samples from human subjects to monitor physiological adaptations to intervention studies. Equipment: Centrifuge refrigerator with rotor and adaptor baskets, deep freezer, distilled water, plate reader and plate washer, nutator, shaker, stethoscopes, Bayer DCA 2000 HbA1C analyzer, multiple volume and multi-channel pipettors, blood drawing syringes, gauze, band aids, tape, needles, tubes, racks, microcentrifuge tubes, distilled water, plastic buckets for ice to keep samples, blood pressure cuffs, safety guards, labcoats, and sharp containers.

- Public Health Laboratory (KHS 106): Designed for staff to provide research support to the conduct of behavioral studies, the lab includes six smaller research spaces, one storage space, computers (with SPSS, SAS, Atlas.ti, and access to all university software through the virtual computing lab), printers, and one photocopier machine. The space is provided to staff affiliated with the department's three research centers: Center for Cancer Disparities Research, Center for Promotion of Healthy Lifestyles and Obesity Prevention, Fibromyalgia and Chronic Pain Center. In addition, research space is provided for funded projects involving emergency preparedness, nutrition, and decision making.
- Health Promotion Research Institute Laboratory (KHS 115): Designed for staff to provide research support to the conduct of pre- and post-award research proposals by the 60+ members of this university-wide institute. The lab includes eight smaller research spaces, one storage space, computers, printers, and one photocopier machine.

Despite the rapid growth of the department over the past five years, there were no changes to the available space in the building from AY 2009-10 through AY 2014-15. Utilization of space, however, has changed as part-time lecturer offices have moved to the Education Classroom (EC-475) building to accommodate new faculty hires.

In AY 2015-16, however, the college opened the new KHS Student Success Center (KHS 193) that houses five advisor offices, a student waiting area including three computers and printers, and a 40-person meeting space within which programs are conducted (such as peer mentoring, tutoring, internships, career counseling, and writing assistance). Future pressing space needs include increased office space for tenure-track/tenured faculty and full-time lecturers, classrooms to accommodate increasing numbers of majors, and space for the conduct of public health research.

C. Describe the current library resources for the program/department, the priorities for acquisitions over the next five years and any specialized needs such as collections, databases etc.

The Pollak Library contains a total of 822,874 books; 37,000 serials; 223,870 ebooks; and 13,700 multimedia items. The Pollak Library provides an abundance of resources and utilities through its website. And all of these electronic resources are available remotely using a simple university portal login.

Among the over 240 databases that library subscribes to, there are nearly a dozen key databases used by Health Science students and faculty. They include: Academic Search Premier (EBSCO); AgeLine (EBSCO); CINAHL Plus with Full-Text (EBSCO); Cochrane Library; PubMed; PsycARTICLES (EBSCO); PsycINFO (EBSCO); ScienceDirect (Elsevier). Web of Science (ISI); and Wiley InterScience. In addition to databases used by Health Science students and faculty is access to EndNote, a bibliographic software which aids in student assignments and faculty research.

In addition to databases, the library provides direct access to 7984 journals in the field of Health Science. These publications are accessed electronically through the library website. Particularly helpful is SFX, a tool that provides interlinking among library resources. SFX is integrated in almost all library databases so users can easily determine whether a journal article is available in the full-text in electronic/print format or whether a book is available in the library. If the library does not have access to the desired article, the user is given the option to obtain the article through our Interlibrary Loan program, ILLIAD. When CSUF faculty, staff or students need material that the Library does not own, they may request the item through Interlibrary Loan. ILLIAD is the online software that allows users to request the item through an online form.

Instructors may utilize traditional course reserve services for support material for their classes. Electronic course reserves are also available through the library. Faculty simply bring their material to the Library and sign the appropriate copyright form. The Library will then digitize the material and host the files within the online library catalogue so students may access the material at any time.

A combination of both traditional and innovative reference service channels helps to meet the information needs of both on-campus and distance students.

- The reference desk is staffed with faculty librarians every day the library is open. Students also have access to alternative reference assistance.
- Online Chat Reference gives students access to a professional librarian 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Through the library website students may submit a question and engage in real-time online chat with a librarian. The librarian will work with the student and can even push pages and co-browse with the user.
- Email Reference allows students to submit their question online and a librarian will respond within one business day.
- Telephone Reference is available whenever the reference desk is staffed.
- Online Research Guides are prepared and maintained by librarians for each major helping to guide students to appropriate resources and explaining how to use the variety of resources. Specific topic guides are also available for users on subjects such as aging, demographics, statistics, government information, etc.

VII. Long-term Plans

A. Summarize the unit's long-term plan, including refining the definitions of the goals and strategies in terms of indicators of quality and measures of productivity. (See instructions, Appendix V)

In planning for the future, it is the desire of the department to balance the pursuit of excellence in all three areas while extending our ability to produce high quality outcomes in each. Thus, the long-term goals of the department are to:

1. Achieve the stated measures of success for student learning as described in our departmental assessment plan;
2. Foster an environment where a majority of faculty will maintain active research agendas that provide meaningful contributions to the public health field and all faculty will keep abreast of advances in knowledge to inform teaching and student learning;

3. Encourage and support all faculty to maintain service activities that inform the direction of the department, address needs of students, and add to the community and profession of public health.

Two major initiatives to enhance student learning are the completion of the department assessment cycle and to restructure the curriculum. With respect to assessment, the department expects to use those data to generate vigorous discussion and thinking about ways to improve our curricular and co-curricular offerings. Additionally, the department has developed plans to revise its curricular plan in the coming review period to more adequately prepare students for public health careers. The department has already taken some initial steps to enhance student learning by creating a peer mentor program; offering tutoring for bottleneck classes; and target advising resources on identifying and intervening with high-risk students. These programs will be assessed and refined.

With respect to research, enablers for greater faculty productivity in the long term which the department has the ability to affect include earlier and more efficient integration of students into research projects; more predictable allocation of assigned time to stimulate research; enhanced communication for collaboration among faculty; and more opportunities for faculty to present and dialogue about current research opportunities.

Other barriers to faculty productivity outside the control of the department will be discussed with the Dean. These include, but are not limited to, expanding space dedicated to faculty research and other high impact practices, and continuing to hire faculty in areas of need.

Service goals for the department include enhancing the impact of faculty service by fostering the development of faculty as leaders in their respective domains of service. Leadership is highly valued in the department because of the opportunity to shape the University, local community and profession in impactful ways. Some of the strategies to increase the number of faculty in leadership positions is to recognize service leadership in the retention/tenure/promotion (RTP) process; providing greater financial support to faculty engaging leadership activities; and supporting leadership development and training opportunities for faculty.

B. Explain how long-term plan implements the University's mission, goals and strategies and the unit's goals.

Fundamentally, the long-term plan implements the University's mission of holding learning as preeminent by recognizing that learning is not a single activity which occurs in a classroom. The long-term plan is oriented to Strategy 2 of Goal I: Integrate teaching, scholarly and creative activities, and the exchange of ideas. As with other strategies in Goal I, we will assess student learning (Strategy 3), recruit and retain high-quality and diverse staff and faculty (Strategy 5). Under Goal II, we are incorporating Strategies 1, 4, 5, 7; Goal III, Strategies 1, 3, 4, 5; Goal IV, Strategies 1, 4; Goal V, Strategies 3 & 6; Goal VI, Strategy 3; Goal VII, Strategies 1 & 3; Goal VIII, Strategies 3, 4, 5, 7.

C. Explain what kinds of evidence will be used to measure the unit's results in pursuit of its goals, and how it will collect and analyze such evidence.

Please see Appendix V for a detailed list of measures the department will use to identify goal achievement. All measures are collected through a CHHD faculty database which faculty are required to update annually.

D. Develop a long-term budget plan in association with the goals and strategies and their effectiveness indicators. What internal reallocations may be appropriate? What new funding may be requested over the next seven years?

To ensure the sustainability of the departmental assessment plan, budget needs include ongoing support in the form of 3-unit reassigned time for a department assessment coordinator to lead assessment planning, data collection and analyses, and closing the loop with faculty and staff to ensure program improvements.

The budget needs to ensure timely and effective restructuring of the undergraduate curriculum includes maintaining a 3-unit reassigned time for the undergraduate program coordinator to spearhead the curricular reorganization, submission of the new concentration plan to the university, and coordination of advising, teaching, scheduling and student supports to ensure successful transition to the new map.

Anticipated budget needs to assure high-quality advising include increasing reassigned time to a full-time faculty member to coordinate the KHS SSC programmatic activities, a new full-time faculty member to spearhead student success and internship coordination (including the increasing requirements by healthcare institutions for student background and health checks), and increasing dedicated advising time from 6-units to 9-units of reassigned time for our two full-time advisors starting AY 16-17.

Future budget and resources will be need to ensure adequate space for faculty research and teaching, in addition to travel for professional development and conference presentations leading to publications and continued extramural grant activities.

Strategies to enhance leadership development among faculty and students are in discussion, and anticipated budget needs include support to fund community engagement events and activities, maintaining the department's Community Advisory Board, hosting or collaborating on conferences, providing CEU opportunities, and funding travel for faculty to participate.

APPENDIX V. LONG-TERM PLANNING

Over the review period, the department has shaped itself into one which balances the tripartite functions of academic units in the University: teaching, scholarship, and service. Uniquely, the three areas are not separate domains but integrated across departmental activities. Student learning is conceptualized as extending beyond the class room to included engaged advising, involvement in service learning in the community, and participation in faculty research projects. Faculty research incorporates and serves community interests while involving students and maintaining cutting-edge curricular content. Service to the profession, University and broader community are seen as opportunities to develop faculty and student leadership skills.

In planning for the future, it is the desire of the unit to continue a balanced pursuit of excellence in all three areas while extending our ability to produce high quality outcomes in each. Thus, the long-term goals of the department are to:

1. Achieve the stated measures of success for student learning as described in our departmental assessment plan;
2. Foster an environment where a majority of faculty will maintain active research agendas that provide meaningful contributions to the public health field and all faculty will keep abreast of advances in knowledge to inform teaching and student learning;
3. Encourage and support all faculty to maintain service activities that inform the direction of the department, address needs of students, and add to the community and profession of public health.

The department has identified areas for long-term focus for each of these domains in addition to specific indicators and criteria of success. With respect to student learning the department will complete its first cycle of student learning assessment. We expect to use those data to generate vigorous discussion and thinking about ways to improve our curricular and co-curricular offerings. The department has already taken some initial steps to enhance student learning by creating a peer mentor program; offering tutoring for bottleneck classes; and target advising resources on identifying and intervening with high-risk students. These programs will be assessed and refined. The department has developed plans to revise its curricular plan in the coming review period to more adequately prepare students for public health careers. This includes reorganizing the curriculum map, creating new courses, and offering new concentrations for the major. This revision will be the major curricular change for the department in the following review period. The budget needs for this work includes maintaining a 3-unit reassigned time for the undergraduate program coordinator to spearhead the curricular reorganization, submission of the new concentration plan to the university, and coordination of advising, teaching, scheduling and student supports to ensure successful transition to the new map.

In addition to representing a structural change, revising the undergraduate curriculum will provide an opportunity to, in accordance with assessment results, exploring ways to improve teaching practices. This includes incorporating pedagogical best practices (including high impact practices), piloting pedagogical innovations, and sharing successful classroom and advising strategies among full-time and part-time faculty. Thus, numerous advances in student learning are expected in the coming review period, with budget needs including ongoing support in the form of 3-unit reassigned time for a department assessment coordinator to lead assessment planning, data collection and analyses, and closing the loop with faculty and staff to ensure program improvements.

We also are looking to maximize the effect of the new KHS Student Success Center. In order to improve student success, in Fall 2015 the Departments of Health Science and Kinesiology opened the KHS Student Success Center. The purpose of the center is to provide tools for success including major advising, tutoring services, peer mentoring, career services, and writing assistance. In the future, the KHS SSC would like to hold student workshops on topics such as a study abroad, financial aid, and other campus resources and programs to enhance the student experience. Anticipated budget needs include 3-units reassigned time to a full-time faculty member to coordinate the KHS SSC programmatic activities, a new full-time faculty member to spearhead student success and internship coordination (including the increasing requirements by healthcare institutions for student background and health checks), and increasing dedicated advising time from 6-units to 9-units of reassigned time for our two full-time advisors starting AY 16-17.

With respect research, the department provides reassigned time (when budget is available) to encourage faculty research as funding is available. It also provides regular updates on intramural and extramural funding opportunities (that approximately 50% of our faculty have at any point in time), allocates money for conference travel for each faculty member, and provides professional development training through the Health Promotion Research Institute. Faculty productivity, however, could be improved. Enablers for greater faculty productivity in the long term which the department has the ability to affect include earlier and more efficient integration of students into research projects; more predictable allocation of assigned time to stimulate research; enhanced communication for collaboration among faculty; and more opportunities for faculty to present and dialogue about current research opportunities. Many barriers to greater productivity, however, are beyond the direct control of the department. These include: identification of additional space for faculty research; hiring more faculty; reduced administrative and service workload; more protected time for research; and larger allotment of funding for conference travel. Future budget and resources will be need to ensure adequate space for faculty research and teaching, in addition to travel for professional development and conference presentations leading to publications and continued extramural grant activities.

In response to these challenges, long-term plans include expansion of the departmental faculty research seminars; a defined protocol for providing assigned time for research; additional faculty hires in the areas of environmental and occupational health and safety as well as public health education and practice; streamlining departmental procedures; and development of an introductory public health course at the 200-level which will provide a larger pool of students with whom to engage in research. Other barriers to faculty productivity will be discussed with the Dean.

Service continues to be a strength of the department with faculty serving on numerous College and University committees, engaging the local community, and advancing the profession through sustained involvement with professional organizations. Service goals for the department include enhancing the impact of faculty service by fostering the development of faculty as leaders in their respective domains of service. Leadership is an opportunity to shape the University, local community and profession in impactful ways. Some of the strategies to increase the number of faculty in leadership positions is to recognize service leadership in the RTP process; providing greater financial support to faculty engaging leadership activities; and supporting leadership development and training opportunities for faculty. Similarly, the department will seek to enhance the high levels of service learning commitment among students by encouraging students to also seek out and take on leadership opportunities. Strategies to do this are in discussion, and anticipated budget needs include support to fund community engagement events and activities, maintaining the department’s Community Advisory Board, hosting or collaborating on conferences, providing CEU opportunities, and funding travel for faculty to participate.

The department has identified the following indicators of quality and/or productivity and criteria for assessing achievement of long-term plans:

Domain	Indicator	Criteria for success
Student learning	Score on direct assessment assignments	75% or more of students will score “Excellent” or “Good” on direct assessment assignments (compared to “Marginal” or “Poor”).
	Student self-rated competence in each of the eight student learning outcomes	85% of student will rate their ability to achieve student learning objective as “Very strong” or “strong” on graduation exit surveys (compared to “Adequate,” Weak,” or “Very Weak”).
	Student co-authorship on published papers	15% of faculty publications will list a student as a co-author.
	Number of students who go on to graduate studies	5% of graduates go on to graduate or additional professional studies within 5 years of graduation.
	Number of student involved in high impact practices	All students in the department will be exposed to at least two high impact practices in core classes for the major.
Scholarship	Publication rate in peer-reviewed journals	An average of one peer-reviewed publication per faculty member per year.

	Presentation rate at professional meetings	An average of one presentation at a professional meeting per faculty member per year.
	Presentation rate at on-campus scholarly events	One-third of faculty members will be invited to give a presentation at an on-campus scholarly event.
	Number of intramural grants submitted	25% of faculty members will submit an intramural grant proposal per year.
	Number of intramural grants awarded	20% of intramural proposals submitted by faculty will be successfully funded.
	Number of external grants submitted	20% of faculty members will submit an extramural grant application per year.
	Number of external grants awarded	10% of extramural proposals submitted by faculty will be successfully funded.
	Number of active community collaborations	25% of faculty will maintain active community collaborations.
	Number of activities co-hosted with community partners	5 events co-hosted with community partners will be held per year.
Service	Committee leadership in professional organizations	25% of the faculty during the review period will serve in leadership roles in professional associations.
	Journal editor or referee	75% of faculty serve on the editorial board of a professional journal or as a journal referee.
	Referee for conference abstracts	50% of faculty serve on the editorial board of a professional journal or as a journal referee.
	Community advisory or executive boards	25% of faculty serve on community advisory or executive boards.
	Community presentations	25% of faculty give community presentations.
	Community consultations	25% of faculty consult for community groups.
	Representation on university committees.	25% of faculty serve on university committees.
	Participation College committees	25% of faculty serve on College committees.
	Chair College or University committees	20% of faculty will chair a College or University committee.
	Advising to student groups	10% of faculty will serve as advisors to student groups.

	Outreach and awareness activities to campus community	One continuing education workshop/seminar offered per year.
	Number of student participating in leadership development opportunities	10 students per year are documented to assume leadership roles in departmental, university, community, or professional organizations.

- 2012 Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) and First Aid Certified
- 2006 Certified Health Education Specialist CHES
The National Commission for Health Education Credentialing, INC.
CHES #: 13243
- 2006 California Basic Educational Skills Test (CBEST) Certified
- 2002-2006 California State University, Fullerton
Bachelor of Science in Health Science

Awards/Recognition

- 2009 & 2011 Housing Hero; California State University, Fullerton
Recognition by the resident advisors of our on campus Residents Halls and their director for my contribution to alcohol awareness and sexual health awareness programs provided to the CSUF residents.
- 2009 Outstanding Staff of the Year; California State University, Fullerton
Recognition by the Greek Community (Fraternities and Sororities) for my service and leadership to their chapter and the CSUF Greek Community.
- 2007 Champion's Award; California State University Alcohol and Other Drug Conference
Statewide recognition for work in coordinating the campus alcohol awareness grant.

Work Experience

- Jan 2006- Aug 2012 California State University, Fullerton
Health Educator, Student Health and Counseling Center
- Coordinator of CSU Fullerton State Incentive Alcohol Grant projects 2007.
 - Coordinator of CSU Fullerton Suicide Prevention Grant projects 2007-2010
 - Coordinator of Alcohol Alternative Events to promote responsible drinking.
 - Coordinate 1 on 1 Brief Alcohol Screening Intervention for College Students.
 - Conduct group Alcohol intervention sessions: CHOICES

- Coordinator of Computerized Alcohol Screening Intervention (CASI).
- Develop, implement and evaluate STD/STI prevention and responsible drinking programs.
- Provide workshops for Health 101, Freshman Programs-University 100 and Biology 101 classes on sexual responsibility, responsible drinking, nutrition and stress management.
- Perform duties of the seven competency areas of a health educator
- Develop curricula and objectives for workshops, presentations, events and consultations.
- Provide Question, Persuade and Refer Suicide Prevention training to students, staff and faculty
- Smoking Cessation Consultations.
- Develop and coordinate Health Promotion Social Marketing Campaigns (Titan Up the Party and Reach Out)

2005-2006

Healthy Lifestyles Program at Richman Park

Activity Leader, Active Kids

- Worked as a physical activity and nutrition program leader for children ages 6-12 in Fullerton, CA in a federally funded partnership program between the Department of Kinesiology at California State University, Fullerton and St. Jude Medical Center (funded by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention)
- Provided mentoring and supervision to 35 neighborhood children.
- Implemented SPARK and CATCH physical education curricula and designed own curriculum focusing on noncompetitive, developmentally appropriate physical activities for children.
- Assisted in the data collection of physical health indicators and nutrition knowledge and preferences of children.

Teaching Experience

- Aug 2014 – present California State University, Fullerton
Full Time Lecturer
Concepts in Health Science (Health Science 220)
Program Design (Health Science 400)
Designing Health Education Curricula (Health Science 455)
Faculty Supervisor for Practicum in Health Science (Health Science 494)
- 2013-Aug 2014 California State University, Fullerton
Health Science Part-Time Faculty
Faculty Supervisor for Practicum in Health Science (Health Science 494)
A requirement for health science majors offering an opportunity to plan, implement and evaluate special community-based projects under faculty supervision. May be taken for credit for a maximum of six units. Credit/no credit only.
- 2013-Aug 2014 California State University, Fullerton
Health Science Part-Time Faculty
Concepts in Health Science (Health Science 220)
Theoretical and practical issues of Health Science as a profession. Topics include history, status, resources, roles in various settings, legal and ethical issues in health education.
- 2012 – Aug 2014 California State University, Fullerton
Health Science Part-time Faculty
Program Design (Health Science 400)
This course is designed to provide the student with the skills necessary for developing, implementing, and evaluating human movement and/or health promotion programs for specific target populations.
- 2009-Aug 2014 California State University, Fullerton
Health Science Part-time Faculty
Designing Health Education Curricula (Health Science 455) (online)
This course explores the theory and skills necessary to develop health education curricula for use in worksites, schools, or community settings. Students will develop curriculum based on an analysis of individual, community, and societal health needs and interests. This section is online only, there are no campus meetings.
- 2009-Aug 2014 California State University, Fullerton
Health Science Part-time Faculty
Contemporary Issues in Children’s Health (Health Science 358) (online)
An overview of common causes of, interrelationships between, and prevention of morbidity, mortality among children and youth. Focus is on preventative and health promotion concepts and practices; connections between health and learning are explored.
- 2008-2009 California State University, Fullerton
Health Science Part-time Faculty
Personal Health 101 (online)
Basic concepts relating to health and well-being from a holistic perspective. Mental, emotional, physical and socio-environmental dimensions of health, sexuality and relationships; nutrition and physical fitness; use and abuse of drugs; health care services and current health problems.

Advising Experience

Aug 2014-Present California State University, Fullerton

Department of Health Science Assistant Undergraduate Advising Coordinator

- Permit students to HESC courses
- Remove holds from students' records
- Guide students on the proper academic path
- Approve grad checks

Jan 2013-Aug 2014 California State University, Fullerton

Department of Health Science- par time Assistant Undergraduate Advisor

- Assist with academic advisement to undergraduate Health Science students
- Health Science 494 Practicum Supervisor/Coordinator of Practicum sites

Peer Health University Network

The Peer Health University Network (PHUN) is a student-based group whose purpose is to promote healthy behaviors and practices to fellow California State University, Fullerton students and assist with programs provided by the Health Education and Promotion Department. Peer Health Educators (PHE's) are trained to provide presentations and coordinate campus outreach events on a variety of health topics affecting our college campus today, including reproductive health, alcohol, tobacco and other drug information, nutrition, physical fitness, stress management and mental health, as well as general health and wellness.

- Provide support, direction, feedback and praise to all club members.
- Support/advisor for students going into professional health programs, such as: Master of Physician's Assistance, Nursing, Dental Hygiene, Occupational Therapy and Public Health.
- Serve as a professional reference for many students pursuing degrees in higher education.
- Motivate the club to achieve leadership, professionalism, and personal growth.
- Maintain an awareness of the activities and programs sponsored by the club.
- Attend all weekly general membership and leadership meetings.
- Attend club programs/activities.
- Explain and clarify College policies and procedures that apply to the club.

- Approve all program proposals, financial paperwork, and minutes.
- Serve as liaison between the professional staff of the Student Health and Counseling Center and the members of the club.
- Oversee and advise members on the development of health-specific workshops.
- Provide training opportunities for program planning, implementation and evaluation.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Jan 2011 – July 2011: Postdoctoral Research - Research, Analysis, and Databasing of Emerging High Power Directed Energy Technologies Marketed to the Clinical and Research Communities, P.I. Michael Colvard
University of Illinois at Chicago, College of Dentistry, Dental Emergency Medicine Readiness Team (DMERT) Office, Chicago, IL
This study characterizes medical-use directed energy devices for health and safety related findings.

2008 – 2010: Ph.D. Dissertation Research – Ultrafine and Nano-Size Welding Fume Exposure Assessment: Size, Shape, and Chemistry
University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago IL
This study characterizes welding fume generated under laboratory-controlled conditions in an exposure chamber containing a breathing manikin simulating a welder performing the work.

May – December, 2009: Climate Change, Green Jobs and Healthy Workplaces
University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago IL
Authored a report for the World Health Organization (WHO) titled “Climate Change, Green Jobs, Healthy Workplaces: Mitigation and Adaptation in the Energy Sector with Specific Review for Worker Health.”

April – October, 2009: Chicago Health and Environmental Exposure Recreation Study

University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago IL

Participated as a field researcher in the Chicago Health Environmental Exposure and Recreation Study (CHEERS) project, which is a multi-year epidemiological study aimed to determine whether recreational exposure to water in recreational waterways is associated with an increased risk of gastrointestinal illnesses.

September, 2006 – January, 2008: Assessment of Inhaled Dose and Personal Exposure to Welding Fume under Laboratory-Controlled Conditions

University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago, IL

In this study, a laboratory-controlled experimental system for welding fume inhalation studies was designed, constructed and tested in as a means to develop exposure concentration envelope and to support establishment of applicable dose range for health effects studies of welding fumes.

July – October, 2007 and July – August, 2008: Size-fractionated and Total Dust/Lead Particulate Deposition and Exposure associated with Urban Housing Demolition

University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago IL

Served as a research assistant for a study funded by the US Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), that determined the amount of dust and lead released during the demolition of single-family homes in Chicago.

GRANTS

PI: The Environmental Justice Youth Training Program. 2015 California EPA Environmental Justice Small Grant. $20,000 Duration 7/1/15-7/1/16

Description: Project aims to engage high school youth on the issue of disparate air pollution exposure, and aims to increase the capacity of specific minority and lower socioeconomic status communities in Anaheim, Alhambra, and Los Angeles, CA. To foster their ability to become adults who tend to participate in air pollution decision-making processes, this project will implement a 12-week after-school educational program that teaches young people the skills necessary to become leaders of environmental concerns in their own communities.

PI: Nail Salon Ventilation Needs Assessment Survey: A Precursor for the Development of an Educational Intervention. 2013 Jr/Sr Faculty Grant, CSUF. $8,624 Duration 7/1/14 – 6/30/15

PI: Research Development Mini-grant. 2013 Health Promotion Research Institute, CSUF. $6,124 Duration 1/1/14-5/31/14.

PI: Measurement of Simulated Manicure Chemical Emission Rate funded by the California Healthy Nail Salon Collaborative. 2013 Seed Project Grant. $2,000 Duration 6/1/13-5/31/14.

Description: The specific objectives of this project are, 1) Measure air concentration of chemical contaminants in an unventilated controlled environment to determine total emission potential of the manicure process (i.e., worst-case scenario); 2) Measure air concentration of chemical contaminants in a ventilated controlled environment to determine the capture efficiency of two commercially available source capture ventilation systems; 3) Compare chemical concentrations measurements from grab sampling to measurements made with a real-time indoor air quality monitor to assess correlation between sampling methods.

PI: Refocusing a Track Curriculum to Prepare Students for Entry-Level Careers in EOHS funded by CSUF-FDC. Faculty Enhancement and Instructional Development (FEID) grant. $5,300. Duration 9/1/2013– 8/31/2014.

Description: The proposed project will refocus current Environmental and Occupational Health and Safety (EOHS) track curriculum to provide specific undergraduate training in the field of EOHS that prepares graduates for entry-level employment. Specifically, the realigned curriculum will expedite students' ability to obtain professional certifications. Curriculum mapping documents, career brochures, and three new course proposals will be developed to improve student persistence and marketability to potential employers.

PI: Nail Salon Ventilation – Needs Assessment Survey funded by CSUF-CICE. CICE Community-based research Mini-grant. $1,250. Duration 1/1/2013-12/31/2013

Description: The proposed study aims to 1) develop and administer a questionnaire to collect data from nail salon owners on their current usage and perceptions of LEV systems, and 2) develop a model of community outreach by CSUF students to the Orange County nail salon industry that serves to inform the development of a Healthy Nail Salon Campaign in Orange County, CA..

PI: Title: Noise Assessment Assignment funded by Faculty Development Center. California State University, Fullerton. Teaching Mini-Grant. $260; 12/14/2011

Co-I: Title: Characterization of Human Exposure to Nano-Particles emitted from Stainless Steel-Shielded Metal Arc Welding Process supported by DOE. Argonne National Laboratory, Center for Nanoscale Materials – User Proposal (CNM 878); Duration: 01/01/2009 – 01/01/2010. (PI: Dr. Serap Erdal, Co-I: Dr. Ernesto Indacochea)

Description: The proposed research aims to characterize size-segregated welding fume samples collected during laboratory-based experiments for size, morphology and composition using scanning electron microscopy with the EDX detector located in Argonne Center for Nanoscale Materials. Argonne personnel provided training in use of facilities prior to use of microscopes and collection of data. Particle size and shape were categorized from obtained images and elemental composition of particles was identified and documented across samples corresponding to stages of cascade impactor. These data are instrumental in understanding the size fractions of importance for health effects studies and determining the distribution of toxic metals across different size ranges, guiding the exposure control and health risk reduction measures.

PI: Title: Morphological Assessment of Welding Fume from Source to Receptor funded by NIOSH. NIOSH/CDC Education and Research Training Grant – Pilot Project Research Training (3 T42 OH008672); $20,000 Duration: 07/01/2008 – 06/31/2009

Description: The proposed research aims to characterize the morphology, size and composition of size-segregated ultra- and nano-size welding fume fractions using state-of-art microscopy techniques. Experiments were conducted within isokinetic emission and exposure chambers using cascade impactor instruments (ELPI, MOUDI, SIOUTOS), which enabled collection of fume in distinct size fractions. Specific sampling media and media preparation methods were utilized for post analysis of samples using an electron microscope. The funding was requested for training in use of various microscopes (i.e., SEM and TEM) located in UIC Research Resource facilities.

 Oct 2014 – present Advisory Committee Member, Latino/a Graduate Students SOAR: Strengthening Opportunities, Access and Resources (SOAR)
 Aug 2014 – May 2015 Member, High Impact Practice Framework Working Group
 Aug 2013 – present Member, Health Professions Committee
 Spring 2013 – present Representative, Faculty Hearing Committee

Memberships and Advising

Aug 2013 – May 2015 Faculty Coordinator, Ballet Folklórico de CSUF
 Aug 2012 – May 2014 Mentor, Enhancing Postbaccalaureate Opportunities at Cal State Fullerton for Hispanic Students (EPOCHS)

Faculty Panels

August 20, 2013 Panelist, “Life and Teaching at CSUF,” 2013 New Faculty Orientation
 September 18, 2013 Panelist, “The Experiences of Chicanas and Latinas in Graduate School,” Office of Graduate Studies and Chicano/a Resource Center
 August 19, 2014 Panelist, “Getting it Right,” 2014 New Faculty Orientation
 October 1, 2014 Panelist, “Experiences of Chicana/Latina Faculty in Graduate School,” Office of Graduate Studies and Chicano/a Resource Center

College of Health and Human Development Service

Spring 2015 – present Kinesiology and Health Science Faculty Representative, College of Health and Human Development Student Success Team’s Assessment/Metrics Working Group

August 2014 – present Kinesiology and Health Science Faculty Representative, College of Health and Human Development Student Success Team

April 2014 Member, HHD Scholarship Selection Committee

Fall 2013 – May 2014 Chair, College of Health and Human Development Student Success Center – Kinesiology and Health Science Committee

Awards

August 2015 Jewel Plummer Cobb Diversity in Education Award; California State University, Fullerton

Department of Health Science Service

August 2015 – present Member, Search Committee for Epidemiology tenure-track position

August 2014 – present Co-Organizer and Co-Facilitator, Department of Health Science Faculty Research Seminar

Aug 2014 – May 2015 Member, Search Committee for Epidemiology tenure-track position

Aug 2013 – May 2015 Co-Chair, Awards and Event Planning Committee

Aug 2013 – May 2015 Faculty Advisor, Eta Sigma Gamma, National Health Education Honorary Society

August 2013 – present Member, Undergraduate Program Committee

January 2013 – present Course Lead, Health Science 411 – Promoting Health in Multicultural Populations

Aug 2013 – May 2014 Member, Search Committee for Academic Assistant Coordinator/Lecturer full-time position

Faculty Panels

September 1, 2015 Panelist, HESC 500

Community Service

July 2013 – Nov 2014 Commissioner (occupying Behavioral/Social Scientist seat), Los Angeles County Commission on HIV

Aug 2012 – Nov 2014 Co-Chair, Los Angeles County Commission on HIV's Latino Caucus

Aug 2011 – July 2013 Commissioner (occupying AIDS Education and Training Centers/Medical Schools seat), Los Angeles County Commission on HIV

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Provide the following information for the key personnel in the order listed on Form Page 2.

NAME		POSITION TITLE
Gill, Jasmeet Kaur		Associate Professor of Health Science
EDUCATION/TRAINING (Begin with baccalaureate or other initial professional education, such as nursing, and include postdoctoral training.)
INSTITUTION AND LOCATION	DEGREE (if applicable)	YEAR(s)	FIELD OF STUDY
University of California at Riverside, California	B.S.	1994	Biology
University of California at Los Angeles, California	Ph.D.	2005	Epidemiology

RESEARCH AND PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE: Concluding with present position, list, in chronological order, previous employment, experience, and honors. Include present membership on any Federal Government public advisory committee. List, in chronological order, the titles, all authors, and complete references to all publications during the past three years and to representative earlier publications pertinent to this application. If the list of publications in the last three years exceeds two pages, select the most pertinent publications. DO NOT EXCEED TWO PAGES.

B. Positions and Honors

Positions and Employment

- 1998-2001 Data Analyst/Data Manager, School of Public Health, University of California, Los Angeles, CA
- 2001-2005 Data Analyst, Department of Preventive Medicine, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA
- 2005-2008 NIH Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Epidemiology, Cancer Research Center of Hawaii at University of Hawaii, Honolulu, HI (R25 CA 90956)
- 2008-2014 Assistant Professor, Department of Health Science, California State University, Fullerton, CA
- 2014- Associate Professor, Department of Health Science, California State University, Fullerton, CA

Other Experience and Professional Memberships

- 2008-2010 Associate Member, American Association for Cancer Research
- 2010-2014 Associate Editor of the Californian Journal of Health Promotion
- 2012-2014 Member, Society for Epidemiologic Research

Honors

- 2003-2005 Pre-Doctoral Traineeship in Cancer Molecular Epidemiology, University of California, Los Angeles CA
- 2007 Participant in the Pathobiology of Cancer: The Edward A. Smuckler Memorial Workshop (awarded to only 100 researchers nationwide). Sponsored by the American Association for Cancer Research and the National Cancer Institute.

D. Research Support

Completed Research Support

Junior Research Award (Intramural), California State University, Fullerton
5/2011- 5-2012

An evaluation of the effects of postpartum breastfeeding support services on breastfeeding rates through 1 year postpartum.

Role: PI

Milton A. Gordon Fund for Scholarly and Creative Activities (Intramural)
1/2012-5/2012

California State University, Fullerton. Assigned time for research awarded.

Research Support not Funded

CSUF and UCI-CFCCC Partnership for Cancer Health Disparities Research, NIH P20 5/2013 and 5/2014.

California State University, Fullerton

Pilot Research Project. "Disparities in Cervical Cancer Outcomes: Race, SES, and the Healthcare System."

Role: Co-PI, $25,000/year for 2 years

PROFESSIONAL EXPERTISE

Environmental Health Sciences

EDUCATION AND POST DOCTORAL TRAINING

2006 Post-Doctoral Fellow, Environmental Health Sciences, UCLA, CA
2005 Ph.D. in Environmental Health Sciences, UCLA, CA
1998 B.S. in Chemistry, UC Berkeley, CA

EMPLOYMENT Undergraduate and MPH Track Coordinator of the Environmental and

2014 to present Associate Professor, Department of Health Science, CSU Fullerton, CA
Occupational Health and Safety (EOHS) Track

- HESC 415: Environmental Health
- HESC 416: Global Issues in Environmental Health
- HESC 421: Infectious Disease Epidemiology
- HESC 462: Environmental Toxicology and Health
- HESC 515: Advanced Environmental Health
- ENST 595T: Environmental Toxicology
- ENST 595T: Atmospheric Pollution

2008 to 2014 Assistant Professor, Department of Health Science, CSU Fullerton, CA

Previous Employment

2009 Visiting Research Assistant, UCLA
2007 to 2008 Lecturer at Azusa Pacific University, CA

- CHEM 101: Introduction to Chemistry
- CHEM 151: General Chemistry, Lab
- CHEM 152: General Chemistry II, Lab

2007 to 2008 Lecturer at Cerritos College, CA

- CHEM 110: Elementary Chemistry, Lab

2007 to 2008 Lecturer at Coastline Community College, CA

- CHEM 180: General Chemistry A
- CHEM 185L: General Chemistry B, Lab

2006 Lecturer at UCLA, CA
- EHS 100: Environmental Health Sciences

HONORS AND AWARDS

2015 Recipient, 2015 Outstanding Teaching Award at College of Health and Human Development (HHD)

2015 Sabbatical Leave Award (Spring 2016)
” Faculty Professional Experience and Student Success”

2015 Recipient, 2015 Faculty Recognition: Service at the University
Recognition of Extraordinary and Sustained Service

2010 Recipient, Outstanding Faculty Recognition for Teaching at the University: Teacher Scholar Award for Exceptional Teaching Effectiveness

COURSE DEVELOPMENT – proposed and approved courses

2010 HESC 416 – Global issues in Environmental Health

2010 HESC 462 – Environmental Toxicology and Health

2010 HESC 463 – Atmospheric Pollution and Health

2015 HESC 115 – Introduction to Environmental Health and Safety
(co-developed with Dr. John Breskey)

SCHOLARLY ACTIVITY External

Funded Grants and Fellowships

2000 to 2004 UC Toxic Substances Research and Teaching Program (UC TSR&TP) student fellowship, $100,000

Internal

2012 to 2013 Faculty Enhancement and Instructional Development (FEID) grant, “Refocusing a Track Curriculum to Prepare Students for Entry-Level Careers in EOHS,” $4000 (PI); Co-PI John Breskey

2010 to 2011 Jr./Sn. Faculty Research Grant, “A Study of Energy Drink Consumption Patterns among College Students Who Play Video Games Regularly,” $5,000

2009 Probationary Faculty Stipend of $6,500

2004 Dissertation Year Fellowship of $17,500 awarded by UCLA, CA

RESEARCH SUPPORT AND OTHER COMPETITIVE FUNDING

ACTIVE- INTRAMURAL

2014-2015: Identifying enablers and barriers to physical activity among pregnant participants of the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), Incentive Grant Award ($10,000)

Role: Principal Investigator

2014-2015: Evaluating the impacts of the revised WIC food packages on weight gain during pregnancy, breastfeeding practices, and childhood obesity in low-income families, Intramural Junior Research Award ($2,481 & 3 WTUs)

Role: Principal Investigator

COMPLETED- EXTRAMURAL

2012-2015: “Improving periconceptional health through the prevention of excessive gestational weight gain: from research to intervention, FNS/USDA ($72, 000)

Role: Principal Investigator

COURSES TAUGHT

2013-present: California State University, Fullerton (CSUF) Department of Health Science:

- Vital Link to Better Health (HESC 350): This course provides an overview of the principles of nutritional science.

- Measurement and Statistics in Health Science (HESC 349): This course provides students with an understanding of measurement theory and statistics commonly used in the evaluation of human health and performance.

2009: UCLA Center for Health Policy Research:

- Basic Statistics and Data Management: I created and taught a two-week intensive course in basic statistics and data management using SAS to visiting international public health professionals conducting a national health survey in Kuwait.

2006: University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) Department of Community Health Sciences: Teaching assistant for Maternal and Child Nutrition (CHS 231).

2003- 2005: American University of Beirut (AUB) Department of Nutrition and Food Sciences:

- Basic Nutrition (NFSC 221): This course provides an overview of nutrients, including their food sources, digestion, metabolism, functions, and requirements in humans.
- Nutrition Status Assessment (NFSC 240): This course exposes students to the theoretical basis of various aspects of nutritional assessment (counseling, dietary assessment, anthropometric measurement, biochemical assays, and clinical assessment). The course also familiarizes students with nutritional status assessment tools and techniques through practical experimentation in the lab.
- Food Service Management (NFSC 290): This course provides an overview of the techniques of management of functional operation of food service.
- Medical Nutrition Therapy Laboratory (NFSC 294): This is an intensive laboratory course designed to help students learn and practice the application of the evidence-based medical nutrition therapy for diseases and disorders.

STUDENTS MENTORED AT CSUF

Undergraduate students: Chad Bykerk (HESC 499), Christine Brown (HESC 495), Aaron Pelina (HESC 494 and research assistant).

Graduate Students: Sean Bell (Graduate assistant (GA)), Michael Molina (HESC 599), Rachael Moon (Project mentee), Nancy Vargas (GA and thesis mentee), Faviola Mercado (GA), Gloria Flores (Thesis/project mentee).

2008 – present Member, lead for Nutrition Roundtable, Health Promotion Research Institute

2009 - Member, Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC)

2010 – Director, Center for Cancer Disparities Research

2010 - 2013 Appointed Representative, CSUF for CSUPERB

2011 Advisor for first Farmers’ Market at CSUF

Major conferences developed at the University Level

May 2007 Co-chair, Nutrition and Wellness: Research Grant Workshop. As part of the Mission and Goals Initiative, this model workshop was one of the first workshops/conferences at CSUF to bring together researchers/academics from various fields including, biology, biochemistry, behavioral sciences, epidemiology and others to focus and discuss the multidisciplinary field of nutrition research. Researchers from several institutions, from USC to Loma Linda, attended the conference. The goal of this meeting was to explore collaborations between the various disciplines of nutrition and begin discussions on possible grant proposals. In addition, this was an opportunity for researchers to increase their knowledge on developing a fundable research proposal, as well as, increasing their awareness about funding mechanisms at the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The two keynote speakers were Donna Spruijt-Metz from the University of Southern California, whose research expertise is in pediatric obesity prevention and Sarah Korbin from NIH, who is currently a Program Director in the National Cancer Institute’s Applied Cancer Screening Research Branch. She directs the Behavioral Research Projects related to “Health Behavior Constructs: Theory, Measurement, and Research”. We received very positive feedback for both conferences.

January 2008

Teaching and Technology Showcase 2008. As part of the CHHD Technology Committee, we spear-headed under the direction of Ellen Junn a technology workshop that featured speakers from different colleges at CSUF. Topics included web conferencing, online class design, pod-casting and clicker technology. I chaired two of the sessions and assisted with developing workshop ideas and implementing them.

Community Service

- Invited guest speaker, American Association of University Women
- Race for the Cure, Susan Komen Foundation
- PICCN Awards and Recognition Banquet
- Invited speaker American Cancer Society
- WINCART kick-off meeting and follow-up meeting with community members regarding diet and nutrition
- Service to School Newspaper on five stories related to Diet/Nutrition
- Service to Titan Communications Television on Sports Drinks
- Service to Experts Speak related to Diet and Survival after Breast Cancer
- Family Circle Magazine Interview
- Titan newspaper interviews
- Nutrition and Health Initiative with Ainhua Civic Club
- Advisory Board WINCART

TEACHING

At California State University, Fullerton:

HESC/KNES 350, Nutrition, Fall 2006

- Content included introductory and advanced nutrition topics such as macro and micronutrients, digestion/absorption, supplement use, nutrition during physical activity, pregnancy and in the elderly population.
- Constructed the syllabus, including goals for the course
- Organized all lecturers and presented them
- Developed, proctored and graded the exams
- Assigned and reported final grades to the department

HESC/KNES 350-WEB, Nutrition, Spring 2007 – Spring 2011

- Constructed a nutrition course on-line using Blackboard methodology.
- Developed new discussion boards and activities appropriate for a WEB based course
- Content included introductory and advanced nutrition topics such as macro and micronutrients, digestion/absorption, supplement use, nutrition during physical activity, pregnancy and in the elderly population.
- Constructed the syllabus, including goals for the course
- Organized all lecturers and presented them
- Developed, proctored and graded the exams

- Assigned and reported final grades to the department

HESC 101-WEB, Personal Health, Spring 2007

- Content included various topics in health, such as stress, cardiovascular health and cancer, immunity, nutrition, pregnancy and childbirth, etc...
- Functioned as course director/web-developer using Blackboard,
- Constructed the syllabus, including goals for the course
- Organized all lecturers and presented them
- Developed, proctored and graded the exams
- Assigned and reported final grades to the department

HESC 420, Chronic Disease Epidemiology, Fall 2007

- Content included the distribution, epidemiology and determinants of major chronic diseases, including heart disease, cancer and diabetes
- Developed this new course, including new course proposal and revisions of proposal
- Constructed the syllabus, including goals for the course
- Organized and presented lecturers
- Invited experts in the field to discuss relevant topics in chronic disease epidemiology
- Developed, proctored and graded the exams
- Assigned and reported final grades to the department

HESC 401-WEB, Epidemiology, Fall 2008 – Fall 2011

- Constructed a epidemiology course on-line using Blackboard methodology.
- Developed new discussion boards and activities appropriate for a WEB based course
- Content included determinants and distribution of diseases, study design, calculating odds ratio and relative risk and steps for investigating disease outbreaks.
- Constructed the syllabus, including goals for the course
- Organized all lecturers and presented them
- Developed and graded the exams
- Assigned and reported final grades to the department

Additional future course development at CSUF

HESC: Childhood Obesity and Nutrition in the Immigrant Population, Fall 2012

- This will be a team-taught course integrating multiple fields to understand and combat childhood obesity and examine the many contributing factors in the continuum from individual to community and larger population groups.
- Congruent with social contextual theory, the course will provide students an understanding of the social, environmental and policy framework that influences childhood and adult obesity, particularly in the diverse immigrant population.

- The course will be divided into four modules. The first will explore the physiologic and biologic aspects of childhood obesity and nutrition across the youth lifespan from early childhood to adolescence. The second and third modules will be specific to Hispanic and Pacific Islander childhood obesity issues. The last module will review effective intervention strategies, including physical activity and nutrition at the community, institutional, school and public policy levels.
- UC Davis will develop relevant videos and brief podcasts that will be integrated into the course.

Intensive One-Week Seminar: Nutrition Research and Career Opportunities, Fall 2012

- In collaboration with UC Davis, a one-week intensive seminar will be developed for CSUF students, staff and faculty.
- Areas to be discussed include: Latest research in childhood obesity and health in diverse populations; Current research and projects in nutrition, foods, and agriculture at UC Davis.
- Career opportunities in food, nutrition, cooperative extension, health fields, and agricultural-related sciences; Graduate opportunities in food, nutrition, and agricultural-related sciences.
- Linkages between the UC and CSU systems and opportunities for future collaborations in education and training and research projects.
- Potential participating UC Davis faculty include Francene Steinberg, Ph.D., R.D. (interventions to reduce risk of chronic disease; biologic effects of food bioactive compounds; dietetic education); Lucia Kaiser, Ph.D., R.D. (early childhood nutrition and acculturation in the Hispanic population; community nutrition interventions in diverse populations; nutrition education and strategies to decrease diabetes risk); Sheri Zidenberg-Cherr, Ph.D. (nutrition education for youth and adults; development and evaluation of food system and nutrition-based curriculum in the schools); Carl Keen, Ph.D. (developmental nutrition; mineral metabolism; diet and cardiovascular disease risk reduction); Christine Stewart, Ph.D. (epidemiology; maternal and child nutrition in low-income populations and developing countries; fetal origins of chronic disease); Jane Heinig, Ph.D. (maternal and child nutrition; feeding and behavioral strategies to reduce childhood obesity in WIC program participants); and Kevin Laugero, Ph.D. (the role of psychosocial stress in the development of obesity and body weight regulation).

HESC/Chicano Studies: Hispanic Health, Nutrition and Health Policy, Spring 2013

- The course will be divided into three modules. The first will explore the physiologic and biologic determinants of diseases influencing Hispanic health as it relates to nutrition and obesity.
- The second explores Hispanic Health and the role of social, built and service environments as determinants to childhood obesity.

- The third will review a continuum of effective intervention strategies, ranging from physical activity and nutrition targeting individuals and families at the home and school to those concerned with the role of grassroots organizations, universities, health foundations, and federal initiatives in the development and implementation of culturally and neighborhood appropriate policy campaigns.
- The course will also include community-based partners. Latino Health Access, a well-recognized community based organization locally will provide guest lectures (that will be video recorded) for this portion of the module.
- To strengthen students' health policy foundation and competencies, students will be encouraged to enroll in elective policy courses.

Workforce Development Seminar Series (WDSS), Fall 2013

- To prepare students to assume leadership roles in careers combating childhood obesity and promoting nutrition among Hispanic immigrants, WDP will leverage CSUF's Student Leadership Institute to create a Workforce Development Seminar Series.
- Students will take workshops in such topics as introduction to leadership, ethical decision making, leading and managing a diverse group, communication styles, teamwork and collaboration, time management, and vision and goal setting.
- To integrate their new knowledge with USDA-related careers, WDP will require them to take two supplemental workshops, in USDA careers and understanding the USDA and opportunities within, taught by the USDA-HSI regional officer.

Conferences and colloquia at CSUF:

1. McEligot AJ. Nutritional Epidemiology Curriculum and Research. MPH Cohort Introductory Meeting. Fullerton, CA, October, 2006.
2. McEligot, AJ. Surveillance research. MPH Spring Colloquia. Fullerton, CA April 2007
3. McEligot AJ. Nutritional Epidemiology. Chinese Delegation. CSUF, January 25th, 2007.
4. McEligot AJ. Nutritional Epidemiology Curriculum and Research. MPH Cohort Introductory Meeting. Fullerton, CA, October, 2007.
5. McEligot AJ. Educational conference on state-of-the-art dietary assessment using the Nutritional Data System for Research (NDSR) Software. CSUF, September 2008. In collaboration with the University of Minnesota, I provided a two-hour educational lecture to CSUF undergraduate and graduate students, and staff on dietary assessments, specifically on using the NDSR software which is considered the “gold-standard” in dietary assessment methodology. Fullerton, CA, September 17th, 2008.
6. McEligot AJ. I attended a two-day training workshop for the NDSR software. I received intensive training in learning the NDSR database structure, entering and editing data in NDSR and enhancing dietary interviewing skills. Fullerton, CA, September 17 – 18th, 2007.
7. McEligot AJ, Jones J., Weiss J. The Mission and Goals Initiative on Promoting the Health of Faculty, Staff, Students and the Community, was extremely successful. The M & G Initiative was comprised of two workshops. The first educational workshop targeted students and community members in order to broaden and inform on the multidisciplinary field of nutrition. The conference overviewed the relationship between nutrition, obesity and disease, particularly cancer outcomes. The keynote address was Dr. Cheryl Rock, a renowned nutritional scientist who has published nearly 150 peer-reviewed articles and has received over 10 million in external funding. Two additional speakers, one from UCLA and the other from CSUF discussed biological and behavioral aspects of nutrition. The true success of the conference was reflected by the fact that not only did CSUF students attend, but also several CSUF students (from Eta Sigma Gamma) helped with organizing the conference. Nearly 120 students and community members attended the conference. Dr. McEligot, the chair of the conference was recognized by Eta Sigma Gamma for involving students in the development and organization of this workshop. Fullerton, CA, April 18th 2008 & May 19th 2008.
8. Teaching and Learning Academy (TLAC) certificate program. Attended:
 - a. Camtasia: Create Podcasts..., February 26th, 2008
 - b. Designing and Developing Grading Rubrics, May 2nd, 2008
 - c. Set Up Interactive Live Chat Sessions Using Ilinc, September 8th, 2008
9. Attended the following workshop: Supporting Teaching Excellence: Maintaining Integrity in the Classroom. Fall 2008.
10. Fibromyalgia Assessment, Management, and Education (FAME). Developed an innovative web-based educational module on the relationship between Fibromyalgia and Nutrition. Fullerton, CA, Fall 2007 and Spring 2008.
 - Conducted extensive research on Fibromyalgia and nutrition
 - Developed Powerpoint slides on the topic
 - Videotaped the module to be presented on the internet

11. McEligot AJ, McMullin J. (UCR) and Pang, K. CA/NV Public Health Training Center. Understanding the Cultural Context of Nutrition and Physical Activity in Pacific Islanders. Topics and activities included:

- Health conditions of Pacific Islanders, specifically Native Hawaiians in California.
- The latest research in diet and lifestyle interventions in Native Hawaiians will be presented.
- Participation and engaging with community members on understanding nutrition and physical activity in Native Hawaiians.
- Cultural context on barriers and successful strategies related to understanding and improving Native Hawaiian nutrition and physical activity will be explored.

12. McEligot AJ, Chandler L, Steinberg F. Nutrition for a Changing World Symposium in Joint Collaboration with UC Davis. Developed a two-day intensive conference on biosocial factors associated with nutrition and childhood obesity. September 2012

At the University of California, Irvine:

- Epidemiology and Biostatistics for medical students, Spring 2005, Fall 2003

- Content included epidemiological study design, biostatistics, review of manuscripts, and critically reviewing research methods in the current literature. Specific content areas include cancer, nutrition and chronic disease epidemiology
- Functioned as course director, contributed 80% effort to the course
- Constructed the syllabus, including goals fro the course
- Organized other lecturers, conducted half the lectures
- Developed, proctored and graded the exams
- Assigned and reported final grades to the department
- All courses were available and posted on a website
- Currently in the process of converting course to an on-line course

- Environmental Health Sciences III, Winter 2005, Fall 2002, Spring 2002

- Co-Lectured and lead discussions with graduate students in Environmental Health Sciences; involved 25% effort for overall course
- Content included epidemiological study design and specific content area was in nutrition and cancer epidemiology
- Facilitated student presentations and discussions on peer-reviewed journal articles Discussed and critiqued research methods of the study
- Assisted with developing exam questions and grading of student presentations.

- Faculty Forums, Fall 2002, Winter 2003

- Facilitated discussion with undergraduates with undecided majors
- Discussed the field of nutrition and cancer epidemiology
- Presented various degrees and options available at UCI to students

- Presented resources available on campus for students
- Advised on academic and career options at UCI
- Epidemiology and Biostatistics, Special Topics, Spring 2004
 - Co-Lectured and lead discussions with medical fellows in Epidemiology and Biostatistics; involved 25% effort for overall course
 - Content included epidemiological study design and specific content area was in nutrition and cancer epidemiology
 - Assisted with developing exam questions and grading of student presentations
- Cancer Epidemiology, Spring 2003
 - Facilitated discussions and lectured to graduate students
 - Content included nutrition, nutritional epidemiology and research methods in nutritional epidemiology; involved 25% for overall course
 - Assisted with developing the course, reviewing the syllabus
 - Worked with students on their presentations, reviewing recent manuscripts in the field on nutrition and cancer epidemiology
 - Assisted with developing exam questions and grading of student assignments and presentations

At San Diego State University

- International Health, Fall 1997, Fall 1998
 - The course comprised of 30 undergraduate students from diverse multicultural backgrounds. Most majored in Community Health and Education
 - Responsible for entire course: Developed the syllabus, all the lectures, assignments and exams for the course
 - Facilitated lively discussions in topics such as the role of the female in developing countries, complementary and alternative medicine, clean water, and other pertinent issues in International Health
 - Facilitated group activities and debates during lectures
 - Graded student papers, exams and assigned final grades

At the University of California, San Diego

- Contemporary Issues, Summer Bridge Program, Summer 1990, 91, 92 and 93
 - Facilitated discussions with incoming freshman students from multicultural/diverse backgrounds
 - Topics of discussion included contemporary writing of various authors in education
 - Reviewed students papers and provided direction in improvement in writing
 - Discussed the challenges of transitioning from high school to the university

- Assigned and reported final grades
- During the later three years, I facilitated discussions in study management, including stress management, time management and other study management skills for ensuring success during their academic careers

Other Teaching Activities at UCI and UCSD

- Advised and directed graduate students in the field of nutrition and cancer epidemiology, including areas of research in the field, appropriate course work, reviewing pertinent literature in the field, assisting in selecting appropriate methods for their research
- Advised research fellows in nutritional epidemiology methodology including selecting the appropriate dietary instrument, methodology relating to study design, questionnaire design and data analysis
- Writing/Study Management Facilitator, one-on-one or small group sessions with undergraduates on improving time management, study skills, memory, and notetaking.
- Grand Rounds for Medical Students

Advanced Topics in Community Health (HESC 520): Created graduate MPH course on the theories, principles, planning and intervention strategies, and evaluation approaches, and incorporates service learning to promote understanding of relevant community health organizing and promotion strategies in the United States.

Advanced Issues in Health Promotion (HESC 540): Graduate MPH core course on the multidisciplinary theories relevant to the mission and processes of health promotion; also fulfills graduate writing requirement.

EXTRAMURAL GRANTS

Principal, Multiple, or Co-Principal Investigator

1. North Orange County Allied and Other Health Careers Opportunity Program (NOCA HCOP), $1,765,618 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/1/14-8/31/17). Training program to promote disadvantaged high school, community college, and 4-year college students into accredited post-baccalaureate allied health programs.
2. WINCART-GMaP Supplement, $169,999 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/1/14-8/31/15). Project to collect biospecimen samples from Pacific Islander adults to build a biobank for future genetic research.
3. WINCART Community Health Educator Supplement, $64,974 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/1/2014-8/31/2015). Pilot project to develop and test the effectiveness of a biospecimen education campaign among Pacific Islander adults.
4. CSUF and UCI-CFCCC Partnership for Cancer Health Disparities Research, $757,345 (CSUF portion only) (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/21/12-8/31/2016). A four-year partnership between the California State University, Fullerton and University of California, Irvine Chao Family Comprehensive Cancer Center to increase cancer health disparities research in Orange County.
5. WINCART Community Health Educator Supplement, $53,495 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/1/2013-8/31/2014). Pilot project to develop and test the effectiveness of a physical activity campaign among Pacific Islander adults.
6. A Pap Test Intervention to Enhance Decision Making among Pacific Islander Women, $2,678,046 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/23/10-7/31/15). A randomized control trial funded by the National Cancer Institute (1R01CA149324) to test the effectiveness of a social support intervention to increase Pap testing among Chamorro, Samoan and Tongan women in Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties.
7. A Pap Test Intervention: Diversity Supplement (Paige), $132,216 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 8/14/2012-7/31/2014).
8. Weaving an Islander Network for Cancer Awareness, Research and Training (WINCART), $4,161,581 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/2/10-9/1/15). A five year Community Network Program Center funded by the National Cancer Institute (1U54CA153458) to conduct community-based participatory research via a Pacific Islander cancer control consortium in five counties of Southern California, with the aims of promoting cancer prevention and control education, recruitment and training of new investigators, and studies appropriate for five groups: Chamorros, Hawaiians, Marshallese, Samoans and Tongans.
9. WINCART Community Health Educator Supplement, $50,000 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 9/1/2012-8/31/2013). Pilot project to develop and test the effectiveness of a physical activity education campaign among Pacific Islander adults.
10. WINCART Diversity Supplement (Cheri), $21,776 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 5/1/2011-8/31/2012).
11. WINCART-NCCCP Partnership to Increase Screening in Racial/Ethnic Minority and Other Underserved, $122,858 (Principal Investigator, 8/18/2010-4/12/2012). Pilot project collaboration

- with St. Joseph of Orange Hospital to increase colorectal cancer navigation among Pacific Islander adults.
12. REACH US PATH for Women (Promoting Access to Health for Pacific Islander and Southeast Asian Women), $4,250,000 (Co-Principal Investigator, 9/30/2007-9/29/2012). A five year Center of Excellence funded by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to promote dissemination of model programs to reduce breast and cervical cancer health disparities among Cambodians, Chamorros, Hmong, Lao, Marshallese, Native Hawaiians, Samoans, Thais, Tongans, and Vietnamese in Southern California.
 13. HIV/HPV Comorbidity among Pacific Islanders, $175,000 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/09-9/31/2010). NCI funded exploratory study of HIV and HPV knowledge, attitudes, and risk reduction behaviors among Chamorro and Tongan youth and parents in Los Angeles.
 14. Breast Cancer Health Navigation Project, $210,448 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/09-4/30/2011). Pilot project to develop and test a cancer health navigation program to promote breast cancer screening for Tongan American women in Southern California.
 15. WINCART: Summer Research Experiences for Pacific Islander Students, $44,135 (Principal Investigator, 7/13/09-9/30/10). Supports summer research training for up to 20 Pacific Islander high school and college students in Southern California.
 16. Physical Activity & Nutrition among Pacific Islander Youth: An Exploratory Study, $353,327 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/07-4/30/09). An exploratory study funded by the National Cancer Institute (R21) to assess physical activity and nutritional intake among Marshallese, Samoan and Tongan adolescents age 14-17 in Southern California.
 17. Social Support among Samoan Breast Cancer Survivors, $69,686 (Co-Principal Investigator, 7/1/06-12/31/07). A pilot study funded by the California Breast Cancer Research Program of the social support needs for Samoan survivors and their caregivers.
 18. Weaving an Islander Network for Cancer Awareness, Research and Training (WINCART), $2,601,348 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/05-4/30/10). A five year Community Network Program funded by the National Cancer Institute (U01 CA114591) to establish a Pacific Islander cancer control consortium in five counties of Southern California, with the aims of promoting cancer prevention and control education, recruitment and training of new investigators, and research efforts appropriate for five groups: Chamorros, Hawaiians, Marshallese, Samoans and Tongans (<http://wincart.fullerton.edu>).
 19. Lymphedema and Pacific Islander Breast Cancer Survivorship, $52,564 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/08-4/30/09). NCI pilot project award as part of WINCART.
 20. Correlates of Cancer Screening for Pacific Islanders, $69,750 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/07-4/30/09). NCI pilot project award as part of WINCART.
 21. Behavior and Beliefs related to Diet in Hawaiians, $71,872 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/07-4/30/09). NCI pilot project award as part of WINCART.
 22. Creating the PI Physical Activity Questionnaire, $55,499 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/07-4/30/09). NCI pilot project award as part of WINCART.
 23. Projected incidence of cancer among Pacific Islanders, $81,500 (Principal Investigator, 5/1/07-4/30/09). NCI pilot project award as part of WINCART.
 24. Environmental Influences on Tobacco Use among AAPI Communities, $150,860 (Co-Principal Investigator, 7/1/04-6/30/07). A three year, Tobacco Related Disease Research Program (TRDRP) funded project to explore the association between pro- and anti-tobacco environmental characteristics of communities and tobacco use among youth in those communities.
 25. Using EE Video to Promote Cancer Screening in Thai Women, $129,882 (Co-Principal Investigator, 12/01/04-11/30/06). A two year study funded by the National Cancer Institute (1 R03 CA113158-01) to test the effectiveness of an Education-Entertainment formatted video to increase the use of Pap tests among Thai women in Los Angeles, California.
 26. APPEAL Youth Leadership Evaluation Project, $11,500 (Principal Investigator, 1/1/04-12/31/04). A one year evaluation of a national youth leadership training program for tobacco prevention and

- control among Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders.
27. Exploration of Tobacco Use in Asian Pacific Islander Youth, $92,076 (Co-Principal Investigator, 7/1/2002-12/31/2003). An 18-month Tobacco Related Disease Research Program (TRDRP) funded project to explore the tobacco use prevention needs among Chamorro and Vietnamese youth in Southern California.
 28. A Network-Based Approach to Cancer Control for Chamorros, $206,213 (Co-Principal Investigator, 7/01-6/04). A three year, California Breast Cancer Research Program (CBCRP) funded, quasi-experimental intervention project to increase breast cancer screening among Chamorros in Southern California.
 29. Achieving Cancer Control Together (ACCT), $475,000 (Co-Principal Investigator, 8/00-7/05). Four year, Robert Wood Johnson Foundation-funded intervention study to build community-based coalitions addressing the reduction of cancer mortality and morbidity the Chinese and Korean communities of Orange County.
 30. Promoting Access to Health for Pacific Islander and Southeast Asian Women: Phase 2, $1,000,000 (Co-Principal Investigator, 10/00-9/04). Four-year CDC-funded effort to increase breast and cervical cancer screening among women in seven communities: Cambodian, Chamorro, Laotian, Samoan, Thai, Tongan and Vietnamese.
 31. Hmong Breast Cancer Study, $200,000 (Co-Principal Investigator, 7/00-6/03). Quasi-experimental design funded by the California Breast Cancer Research Program to study the effect of a community intervention program on the breast cancer knowledge, attitudes and behaviors of Hmong women in Fresno, Long Beach, Orange County, and San Diego.
 32. Promoting Access to Health for Southeast Asian and Pacific Islander Women: Phase 1, $100,000 (Co-Principal Investigator, 10/99-9/00). One-year CDC-funded effort to assess the breast and cervical cancer needs of women in seven communities: Cambodian, Chamorro, Laotian, Samoan, Thai, Tongan and Vietnamese.
 33. Breast Cancer Knowledge and Attitudes: California Pacific Islanders, $70,000 (Principal Investigator, 7/1/97-6/30/99). California Breast Cancer Research Program-funded pilot study to conduct baseline focus group and survey activities to assess the barriers and facilitators to breast cancer screening among Chamorro and Tongan communities in Los Angeles and Orange County.
 34. Tobacco Policy Advocacy among Asian Pacific Islanders, $10,000 (Principal Investigator, 1/1/95-6/30/96). American Cancer Society-funded study that involved conducting primary data collection in support of doctoral dissertation on policy advocacy, including survey design, interview administration, data management and analyses.

Co-Investigator or Advisory Committee Member

1. Healthy Asian and Pacific Islander Youth (HAPIY) project, $1,500,000 (Advisory Committee member, 9/1/2012-8/31/2017). The goal of this project is to create services and implement individual, community and systems-change strategies that provide very low income API and other youth with skills and experiences to make healthier choices along the life course.
2. Bridging Research, Innovation, Training and Education for Minority Health Disparities Solutions (BRITE) (Training Core Co-Director, 8/1/12-1/31/17). A four year center at UCLA to promote health disparities research, create community partnerships, strengthen research education and training, and identify efficacious approaches to improving the health and health care of racial/ethnic minority populations.
3. Evaluation of the Paso Del Norte's Healthy Communities Initiative, $75,000 (Co-Investigator, 8/00-12/00). Paso Del Norte Health Foundation funded evaluation to conduct a qualitative, strategic review of its nine community health projects involving coalition and community capacity building in El Paso, Texas.
4. Evaluation of The California Endowment's Welfare Reform Initiative, $90,000. (Co-Investigator,

1/99-12/99). Designed and conducted evaluation of a foundation investment area, which includes surveys, case studies, report writing and presentation of findings.

INTRAMURAL GRANTS

1. HPRI Center and Institute Planning and Expansion Program, $10,000 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 1/1/2014-6/30/2014). Supported the reorganization of the Health Promotion Research Institute into cores, and provided seed funding to one faculty member for research proposal development.
2. HPRI Center and Institute Planning and Expansion Program, $15,000 (Multiple Principal Investigator, 7/15/2010-7/14/2011). Supported the expansion of the Health Promotion Research Institute to promote strategic planning, community advisory board planning, and research proposal development with member faculty.
3. Asian Pacific Islander Task Force of Orange County, $1,000 (Principal Investigator, 4/1/05-11/1/05). A one year participatory action research effort funded by the CSUF Center for Internships & Service-Learning to assess the breast and cervical cancer education needs of Chinese, Korean, Native Hawaiians and Marshallese in Orange County.

RESEARCH AND SCHOLARLY ACTIVITIES

RESEARCH GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS RECEIVED:

RSG-10-176-01-PCSM (Tisnado, P.I.) (P.I. role transferred from J. Malin 11/1/11)
American Cancer Society

Assessing Symptom Side Effects and Indicators of Supportive Cancer Treatment

Total Direct Costs: $600,000

July 1, 2010–June 30, 2014

This study will characterize quality of supportive and palliative cancer care in the NCI CanCORS population-based cohort, consisting of 10,000 patients with newly diagnosed lung or colorectal cancer from geographically diverse populations and health care systems.

CanCORS II Subcontract (Tisnado, D. P.I. of Subcontract)

NCI and Dana Farber Cancer Institute

Title: Understanding Symptom Needs, Worry, and the Role of Survivorship Care Planning

Total Direct Costs: $52,305

January 1, 2013-July 31, 2013

This study will use newly collected follow-up survey data on patient experiences in a population-based cohort of lung and colorectal cancer patients enrolled in the NCI Cancer Care and Outcomes Research and Surveillance Consortium II (CanCORS II) study to assess the associations amongst receipt of survivorship care planning and symptom needs, health-related quality of life, and satisfaction in long-term cancer survivors.

Drew/UCLA/RAND Project EXPORT/ 2P20MD000182-06 (Norris/Shapiro)

Are Fatalism and Religiosity Associated with Patient Activation and Experiences with Cancer Care? (Tisnado, P.I. of Pilot Project)

Total Direct Costs: $20,000

Dec 1, 2011-May 31, 2012

Purpose: To assess associations among Latina cancer survivors' self-reported faith beliefs, locus of control and utilization of cancer-related health services.

UCLA Older American Independence Center Career Development Award/ NIA 5P30 AG128748 (Reuben)

Lay Navigators as an Intervention to Improve Breast Cancer Services Among Pacific Islanders (Tisnado, P.I. of Career Development Award Project)

Total Direct Costs: $50,000

July 1, 2010 – June 30, 2011

Purpose: To conduct a process evaluation of a lay health navigator program in a Southern California Pacific Islander community, assessing perceptions of program recipients and other community members of effective lay navigator roles and program models in Pacific Islander communities.

UCLA Center for Health Improvement of Minority Elderly/ NIA Resource Centers for Minority Aging Research/ 3P30 AG021684:07S2 (Mangione)

Lay Navigators as an Intervention to Improve Breast Cancer Services Among Pacific Islanders (Supplement) (Tisnado, P.I. of Supplement Project)

Total Direct Costs: $94,966

September 1, 2008 – June 30, 2010

Purpose: To conduct a process evaluation of a lay health navigator program in a Southern California Pacific Islander community, assessing program staff and community perceptions of effective lay navigator roles and program models in Pacific Islander communities, and to obtain additional training in community-based, participatory research principles and implementation.

California Breast Cancer Research Program Community Research Collaborative/ 14AB-2000
Latina Breast Cancer Survivors: Our Experiences (Tisnado, P.I.)

Total Direct Costs: $150,000

July 1, 2008 – March 31, 2010

Purpose: To employ community-based, participatory research principles to explore Latina breast cancer survivors' experiences with breast cancer survivorship care in Los Angeles County.

UCLA Center for Health Improvement of Minority Elderly/ NIA Resource Centers for Minority
Aging Research/ 3P30 AG021684 (Mangione)

Immigrant Enclave or Ethnic Community? Neighborhood-Level Effects on Latina Elders' Breast
Cancer Care and Outcomes in Los Angeles County (Tisnado, P.I. of Pilot Project)

Total Direct Costs: $20,000

July 31, 2006 – July 30, 2007

Purpose: To explore the methodologies for defining and identifying “immigrant neighborhoods,” to examine the effects such neighborhoods confer on cancer care and outcomes, comparing the communities where Latinos and non-Latinos live; and how these effects specifically impact older community members.

U.S.A. Medical Research and Material Command, Department of Defense Postdoctoral Fellowship/ DAMD17-03-1-0328

Quality of Breast Cancer Care: The Role of Hispanic Ethnicity, Language, and Socioeconomic Position (Tisnado, P.I.)

Total Direct Costs: $167,275

October 1, 2004 – June 30, 2008

Purpose: To assess the relative impact of contextual and neighborhood level socioeconomic factors, person-level socioeconomic factors, language, and ethnicity on the quality of care received by a population-based cohort of women with a new diagnosis of breast cancer in Los Angeles County.

California Breast Cancer Research Program / 7PB-0126

The Impact of Structure on the Quality of Breast Cancer Care (Kahn, P.I./ Tisnado, Co-P.I.)

Total Direct Costs: $851,914

December 1, 2001 – June 30, 2005

Purpose: To measure characteristics of the structure of care for breast cancer in Los Angeles County, and to assess the impact of structure on the processes and outcomes of breast cancer care.

Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality Post-Doctoral Fellowship/ T32 HS00046

Amount: $42,774

December, 1999 – June, 2001

RAND/ University of California at Los Angeles School of Public Health

Department of Health Services

Research Projects:

Volume-Outcomes Effect and HIV. Purpose: To address the endogeneity of the volume-outcome relationship with an Instrumental Variables approach (Tisnado, P.I.)

UCLA/PBGH Physician Value Check Validation Study. Purpose: to examine the structure-process-outcome link with a large West Coast sample of managed care patients (Kahn, P.I.)

Institute of Medicine Nickens Symposium. Purpose: To prepare a manuscript reviewing increasing racial and ethnic diversity among physicians as an intervention to address health disparities (Kington, P.I.)

University-wide AIDS Research Program

Pre-doctoral Training Fellowship

Amount: $12,000

UCLA School of Public Health, 1996 – 1997

Research Project:

HIV Hospital Outcomes Project. Purpose: to examine patient and hospital characteristics associated with care processes and outcomes of patients hospitalized with HIV in California (Tisnado, P.I.)

Other Activities: Participated in the development and implementation of a conference for local HIV community-based organizations (Morisky, P.I.)

OTHER ONGOING AND COMPLETED RESEARCH COLLABORATIONS:

Assessing Symptoms, Side Effects, and Indicators of Supportive Treatment for Cancer, VA National Study (Lorenz, PI; Walling, Co-PI)
2008-2014

Feasibility and Validity of Assessing Symptoms, Side Effects, and Indicators of Supportive Treatment in the VA: A Pilot Study (Malin, PI)
2007-2008

Cancer Care Outcomes Research and Surveillance Consortium (CanCORS) (Kahn, PI)
2004-2014

Grant Proposal Submission and Grant Proposal in Preparation:

1. "La Vida Saludable – Healthy Living in Santa Ana", submitted to CDC on April 12, 2010 (Under review). CDC Affordable Care Act: Childhood Obesity Research Demonstration. A collaborative work with AltaMed Medical Services. Role: Co-principal investigator.
2. CDC Affordable Care Act: Community Transformation Grants. A collaborative work with AltaMed Medical Services and many other community professionals. Role: Co-principal
3. "From Virtual Reality Technologies to Health Practice", to be submitted to National Institute of Health on Feb. 5th, 2012. A collaborative work with faculty from the Computer Science dept at CSUF, research at UCI, and AltaMed Medical Services. Role: Principal Investigator.

Community Involvement, Program Evaluation and Consultancy:

1. Computerized Alcohol Screening and Intervention (CASI) Program 6/2007 - 9/2010
This project is a collaborative effort between University of California, Irvine and California State University, Fullerton. The goal of this project is to implement and evaluate the effectiveness of a Computerized Alcohol Screening and Intervention developed by the Emergency Department at UCI in the Student Health and Counseling Center at CSUF.

Role: Program Evaluator

2. The efficacy of Computerized Alcohol Screening and Intervention (CASI) in at-risk Emergency Department and Trauma Patients 2010 – Present

This study is to examine the effectiveness of computerized alcohol screening and brief intervention in the UCI Medical Center Emergency Department (ED) and Trauma patients. This project is conducted in the Institute for Clinical and Translational Science at UCI funded by National Institute of Health

Role: Mentor

3. PowerPlay-MD for children weight management 9/2007-present

The purpose of the project is to evaluate and provide evidence based information on the effectiveness of a pediatric obesity intervention program among Latino youth. In addition, we examined the association between programmatic outcomes and psychosocial factors.

Role: Project Director and Program Evaluator

4. Nutrition, Physical Activity Collaborative (NuPAC) Mini Grants Fall, 2006

We assisted the Nutrition and Physical Activity Collaborative of the Orange County Health Care Agency in developing 5 mini grant evaluation packages. Each package included 1) goal and objectives of the program, 2) program methods, theoretical framework and measurements, 3) program activities and implementation strategies, 4) estimated budget, and 5) GIS maps of the targeted community. We had graduate-level Program Planning and Evaluation students involved in these evaluation packages.

Role: Consultant

5. Proposition 10 Commission, Orange County Commission of Children and Families 7/2008 – 6/2011

The objectives of this program are to assess overall health, happiness, and parents' attitudes towards feeding their family among low SES population; and to evaluate the effectiveness of the program in regards to children's weight management.

Role: Program Evaluator

6. Dairy Council of California 6/2007-9/2009

This organization developed an online nutrition intervention called the Personal Nutrition Planner. The project goals included: 1) conceptualization of the intervention, 2) survey measurement selection, 3) study design, and 4) final report on the effectiveness of the program

Role: Consultant

7. Active Living in Santa Ana (ALISA) 6/2005-9/2009

“Active Living In Santa Ana: A Partnership for Healthier Living” is a community-based physical activity project funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. The goal of our study was to conduct a needs assessment and to evaluate the effectiveness of this physical activity and obesity prevention among under-served population in Orange County communities.

Role: Program Evaluator

8. Research and Evaluation Committee, NuPAC 2005-Present

The Center of Healthy Lifestyles and Childhood Obesity Prevention at California State University, Fullerton (CSUF) has collaborated with NuPAC for obesity prevention efforts. CSUF has provided support and consultation services to assist in the completion of multiple community- and school-based research projects. Faculty members from the Health Science Department worked with NuPAC to provided services for multiple program evaluation projects. These evaluation projects included five mini grant evaluation packages (such as: 1) OC Marathon for Kids, 2) Follow the Leader, 3) Better eating for Korean-Americans, 4) Point Project), and 5) Communities of Excellence (CX3).

Role: Chair of the Research and Evaluation Committee

9. Drug prevention, teenager pregnancy, and domestic violence project 2000-2001
 Plaza Community Center, East Los Angeles
 Working on the “Latino Community-based drug prevention, teenager pregnancy, and domestic violence research project”

Role: Consultant
