VETS AND CADET FUND SCHOLARSHIP - ESSAY GUIDELINES

The selection committee deciding upon awards from the Vets and Cadet Fund welcomes an essay from those seeking an award. Although merit is the ultimate determinant, the fairest evaluation of any candidate requires consideration of his/her personal circumstances. The essay thus becomes the candidate’s opportunity to humanize himself or herself and communicate his/her motivation and goals and relate any achievements attained and/or adversities overcome. The selection committee will especially want to know of the candidate’s past U. S. military service and future plans, if any, to continue in U.S. military service or to enter U.S. Military service. In the essay, the selection committee encourages applicants - Don’t be shy. Repeat, DON’T BE SHY ABOUT EXPRESSING YOURSELF. The essay should be about the candidate as a person, as well as his or her desire for military service or achievements in military service. The candidate is free to write the essay in any manner that he or she feels comfortable with (for example, simple narration, or numbered paragraphs, or bullet points). The essay is encouraged, but not required and exclusive of attachments, should be between 1 and 3 pages and include any or all of the following:

- 1. Past or Present U.S. Military Service. For U.S. veterans or current and ex-US Military, consider providing dates of service, the military branch you served in, current or final rank, and any medals received or other recognition of achievement in the U.S. military. Feel free to discuss your time in service, e.g., where you served and the details of what you did in the service of your country. Copies of citations or proof of past service can be attached to the essay. For ROTC cadets without prior military service, relate your experiences in the ROTC program thus far. [SEP]
- 2. Current Obligations. Your current life situation and financial situation are important considerations. Please detail your personal situation and any family obligations as well (e.g., support of other family members, such as spouse, children, parents, or siblings). [SEP]
- 3. Current or Intended Major(s) (and minor(s), if applicable) at CSUF, your reasons for pursuing a degree in those fields, and your current GPA. [SEP]
- 4. Future Goals, whether or not of a military nature. If, upon graduation, you plan to continue military service through the CSUF ROTC program, or otherwise, identify what you'd like to do in the U.S. military. If undecided, perhaps identify 2 or 3 options you're considering. [SEP]
- 5. Life Experiences: Adversities you've overcome and how you overcame them. Achievements and accomplishments in life that you care to share. Please also consider sharing the circumstances of your upbringing, including any financial difficulties involved. [SEP]
- 6. Other Considerations. In addition, the candidate is free to inform the selection committee of anything else that would be helpful in considering your candidacy for an award. Again, don't be shy! [SEP]
- 7. Attachments The candidate is free to add attachments to the essay, for example, copies of document(s) showing prior military service, awards earned, etc.
